ORINDA'S UNITED CRUSADE is being given a hefty boost by the new Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce. As their first community projest the new Jaycee group has placed a "thermometer" at the Crossroads, for registering drive progress throughout the Diablo Valley. As of last Saturday the Diablo Valley score was 24 per cent, and Mrs. Richard Fayram, Orinda's United Crusade co-chairman is shown instructing Jack McCorkle, (left), Orinda Jaycee publicity chairman, and Eric Nielsen, Jaycee vice-president, in the proper marking of the "thermometer." —Sun photo by Mattson

Orinda Voters Will Meet Candidates Monday Night

County, state and national candidates will address the people of Orinda at a Candidates' Night "town hall" meeting at 8 o'clock Monday night at Orinda School auditorium.

At this same gathering, which is sponsored by the Orinda Association board, state propositions will be discussed by a panel of three Orinda members of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Ritchie Ward, association secretary, announced yesterday that Mel Nielsen and Clarence R. Wallace, candidates for supervisor from the Second Supervisorial District, and Assemblyman Donald Doyle (R) and Russell Koch (D), candidates for assemblymen from the 10th Assembly District, have accepted invitations to be present.

In addition, according to Mrs. Ward, State Senator George Miller Jr. (D), candidate for reelection, has said he will either be present or send a representative, and his opponent, Jack Pedder (R) will be present; Congressman John Baldwin (R), seeking reelection, will have a representative there, and his opponent, Dr. H. R. Quinney (D), will be present.

State propositions on the November 6 ballot will be discussed by Mesdames Millard Simon, Robert Karplus and Benjamin Mallary, who are Orinda members of the League of Women Voters.

EVERYTHING'S SHIP-SHAPE in the canine world, as far as 5-year-old Gordon Schell (at left, with brush), 3-year-old Billy Schell and their dog, Debbie, are concerned. As they groom Debbie the boys proudly display the dog's license. They are making sure that their pet can't possibly be mistaken for a stray — and Debbie agrees that this is a good idea, what with a plan now being discussed to bring the stray dogs in the county under control. —Sun photo by Mattson

Trustees to Also Ask for $2.75 Tax in Jan. 22 Vote

By SHERMAN PEARL

Voters in the Orinda School District will be asked on January 22 to approve a $2,150,000 school expansion program and a $1 hike in the tax rate ceiling.

At a special public meeting Monday night at the Pine Grove School, the district trustees voted unanimous authorization of a special election on (1) a $950,000 bond issue, (2) a loan of up to $1,200,000 in state aid (3) a $2.75 tax limit.

According to District Superintendent Joseph L. Sheaff, the board proposed these projects to facilitate a five year school expansion program recommended by the Stanford Educational Consultants after a recent survey of the district.

SHEAFF SAID that the board found, in addition to the need of the bonds and state loans, it was necessary to raise the tax limit to expediate the building program.

The superintendent stated the board was asking for the increase in the face of anticipated "great increases in wages and building costs."

"Although we're asking for a $2.75 tax rate," Sheaff explained, "that does not mean we intend to use it all. That would be the limit, merely allowing us to go that high if we saw a need," he emphasized.

School construction over the five year period would include an elementary school and intermediate school in the Inland Valley area.

The elementary school would comprise about 20 rooms and two kindergartens. Eighteen rooms, a library, crafts room, industrial arts room and other special rooms would be included in the intermediate school.

THE EQUIVALENT of two schools would be built on the Wagner Ranch site, Sheaff reported. This would mean between 15 and 30 rooms, two libraries and a multi-purpose room.

Plans have also been laid to complete the Sleepy Hollow School by adding three classrooms, a crafts room and a multi-purpose room.

The Del Rey School would acquire a multi-purpose room and library, while an additional two or three classrooms and a kindergarten would be added to the Glorietta School, should the voters approve the program.

A SIX-CLASSROOM addition to the Pine Grove School, to be covered by funds already acquired, and the Sleepy Hollow School project are planned for sometime this year or early next year, Sheaff said.

The Stanford Consultants had estimated the cost of the five-year program between $1,900,000 and $2 million, the superintendent added, "but we felt it would be better to ask for a little more now, just to be safe later."

An interested resident, Phillip Bush of Meadow View Road, Orinda, appeared at Monday's meeting to substantiate the findings and estimations of both the Stanford group and the school district.

Bush presented projections as a private citizen, and they coincided with the others.

"The board appreciated what he did," Sheaff said.

Petition Windup For City-Vote Set for Sunday

A "final windup effort" in the Orinda incorporation petition drive will be conducted Sunday, with volunteer workers starting out at 1 p.m. from the Oak Springs clubhouse on Spring Road.

This was announced last Monday night by Orinda Association Vice-President Gene Estes at the meeting of the organization's Civic Affairs Committee in the Orinda School auditorium. Estes said that volnteers are needed for the Sunday "push."

Mrs. Ritchie Ward, association secretary, said yesterday that she will be at the Oak Springs clubhouse to help give petitions to volnteer workers. She asked that volunteers arrive at the clubhouse between noon and 1 p.m.

"WE ARE ABOUT 500 to 700 signatures short of what we need," Estes told the Civic Affairs delegates.

He explained that the petitions asking the Board of Supervisors to schedule an election on Orinda incorporation must have at least 25 per cent of the landowners in the proposed city, representing at least 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of the land, without improvements.

"WE ALREADY have over 25 per cent of the landowners signed up," he said. "But we need about 500 to 700 more signatures in order to cover 25 per cent of the assessed valuation."

He and Treasurer Marvin Baker stated on Sunday the volunteers will be assigned to call at homes in areas where petition circulation has not been fully conducted.

At last week's association board meeting Ted Sawyer reported that some 2500 signatures had been obtained on petitions.

Neighborhoods Will Spark Association Drive, Vote

The annual membership drive of the Orinda Association, scheduled to start early next month, will be a house-to-house campaign by volunteers under the leadership of area captains.

This was decided by the association's Civic Affairs Committee Monday night at Orinda School. Meeting in the school auditorium, delegates agreed that neighborhood associations be asked to suggest persons to serve as captains.

Neighborhood associations will also be requested to suggest candidates for directorships. Civic Affairs Chairman Bill Thurston said.

A SPECIAL MEETING of the Civic Affairs Committee was scheduled for November 5, 8 p.m., at Orinda School, for action on nominations.

"We hope to have suggestions as to candidates by then," Thurston said. "In addition, nominations can be made from the floor at the November 5 meeting."

Thurston explained that four directors will be elected by the entire association membership, but that the candidates will be from certain specific areas where board vacancies are occurring.

THE ELECTION will be held in November, following the membership drive, he said. The four victorius candidates will serve 2-year terms starting January 1.

New directors will replace Mel Arighi, Ted Sawyer, Caroline Harrison and Paul Pollaczek, whose terms will expire the end of this year.

Arighi, current president, is from the central portion of the southern part of Orinda—the portion including Tara Road, Martha Road and Scenic Drive.

Sawyer is from the Oak Springs area. Mrs. Harrison is from the Hacindas Del Orinda area, and Pollaczek is from the Glorietta-Moraga Meadows area.

THURSTON announced Monday night, as part of the effort to increase effectiveness of the association, the board will meet at Orinda School next Monday night from 7:30 to 8—just prior to the Candidates' Night "town hall" gathering.

Purpose of this half-hour board session, he said, will be to "draw up a list of organizations which are bona-fide members of the Orinda Association," so as to determine which organizations shall be represented on the Civic Affairs Committee.

'Value' Is the Key Word; Orinda Value Days Near

Attractive window displays and colorful sings are springing up in the windows of local stores, heralding the coming of Orinda Value Days.

These big days of special savings are almost upon us.

They will take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 1, 2 and 3.

The displays and signs, provided by the Orinda Chamber of Commerce, are telling local shoppers that they can expect great savings and tremendous buys on these days, merely by shopping "at home."

Orinda Value Days were planned last April by the Merchants Committee of the chamber, which has had several months now to prepare the special sale items and slash prices generally.

Under the direction of Chairman John Ogden, Value Days will mean that the items on sale are the same quality items currently being handled by the merchants.

No "special" items will be brought into the local stores.

Conducted twice yearly, Orinda Value Days have convinced local consumers "values" are just the things they can expect.

Orinda Hunter Killed by Shot From His Own Rifle

A shot from his own rifle fatally wounded an Orinda executive of a steel company Tuesday while on an elk hunting trip near Superior, Mont.

Killed in the hunting accident was Milo G. Spaich, 44, of 96 Van Ripper Lane, vice-president of the Pacific States Steel Company of Fremont.

Spaich, hunting in a wooded area 23 miles west of Superior, was on the lookout for elk as he walked through the woods with his brother Sekul, of San Jose, and Joe Eastwood Jr., of Piedmont, president of the steel plant.

According to the executive's widow, Vivian, her husband tripped over a log, his rifle firing as he fell. The body was recovered by Sheriff-Coroner Francis Tamietti.

Spaich is survived by his widow and two children, Milo Jr., and Pamela; his mother, Mrs. Julia Spaich of Saratoga; two brothers, Ned of Saratoga and Sekul; and two sisters, Mary Spaich of San Jose and Mrs. Stanley Kirber of Fullerton.

Services are pending at the Albert Brown Mortuary in Piedmont.

Annual Library Report Handed To Superivsors

County Librarian Bertha D. Hellum's 1955-56 annual report was presented to the Board of Supervisors recently.

A new high record of books and other library material loaned for home circulation totaled 1,172,498, with 78,305 registered borrowers.

The 192,978 books in the library system were loaned through 32 branches and stations, all but one, Martinez, substandard in size for the number of people living in the area. A new high record of reference work was also recorded. The library staff answered 87,713 questions, 16,371 at headquarters by means of a newly developed multiple request form which has resulted, according to Technical Service Director A. J. Biggins in "increased efficiency and decreased costs.

The increased use of the libraries was attributed to a larger book budget, the spirit of service on the part of library staff members, and the "patience and courtesy of library borrowers in waiting their turn."

Mrs. Hellum stated that the staff is "increasingly aware that we have an informed and intelligent population to deal with and a public whose demands for quality of service has reached a new high."

Comparison with library use of the previous year, according to Supervising Branch Librarian Ruth Turner, showed a 32 per cent increase in reference questions answered, 12 per cent increase in books taken home to read, and a 13 per cent increase in the number of registered borrowers.

Emphasis of the report was given to citizen participation in library development and support in Concord, Lafayette, Martinez, Orinda, Pleasant Hill, San Pablo and Walnut Creek.

Chamber Moves To Ease Orinda Traffic Ties

The Orinda Chamber of Commerce has sent a letter to Victor Sauer, county public works director, in an attempt to solve the problem of traffic congestion at the intersection of Santa Maria Way and Orinda Highway.

The letter, which pointed out the traffic difficulties and dangers to school children in crossing the street, also requested a crosswalk at the foot of Santa Maria Way.

This was reported at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the chamber at Casa Orinda.

Opening the meeting, President Merle Brown welcomed members and guest and stated that "this is the largest attendance I can remember."

It was reported that two chamber projects—street cleaning and the drive against illegal parking, were making headway.

Cleaning has started in the Orinda Crossroads and Orinda Village and it will continue, was the report.

A member also reported that more tickets for illegal parking in the iVllage were being given after a letter of complaint had been sent to the California Highway Patrol by the chamber.

Guest speaker for the day was John Nejedly, Walnut Creek city attorney and attorney for the Central Costa Sanitary District.

Nejedly gave complete explanations of the 19 California Constitutional propositions which will be found on the November 6 ballot.

Explaining what each of the 19 proposed and what opposition each is receiving, the attorney cited Proposition 4, the oil control issue, as the most controversial.

He said the proposition asked that production in each established oil field be controlled by 75 per cent of the ownership. Opponents of the measure have argued that could mean virtual monopoly by the large oil companies.

The mother of a 1½ year old girl and a neighbor have asked $75,000 damages from Mrs. Virginia B. Gregg, 35, of 13 Washington Lane, Orinda, for injuries suffered in a three-car collision June 2.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Dorothy L. Rater of Berkeley, and a neighbor, Mrs. Edith Swisher, filed the complaint with County Clerk Walter T. Paasch.

The women allege that Mrs. Gregg was reasonable for the collision on Mt. Dialo Boulevard near Cavallero Drive in Lafayette, in which the tot suffered hear injuries. Her mother asks $25,000.

Mrs. Swisher asks $50.000 for the alleged aggravation of a pre-existing arthritic condition and for other injuries.

Civic Affairs Hears Speaker On Transit Plan

"Purpose of the proopsed Alameda-Contra Costa County Transit District is to decide how to get to San Francisco for less money in a shorter time," Robert M. Copeland of Kensington told the Orinda Association's Civic Affairs Committee Monday night.

Copeland, a candidate for director-at-large of the proposed district, addressed the Civic Affairs delegates at the Orinda School auditorium on the proposed district. He spoke in favor of it, describing it as "primarily feeder lines."

During the discussion period Clarence Betz commented:

"As I see it, the purpose is so that the people of Oakland and the East Bay can have a transportation system in case the Key System withdraws from the picture."

THEN HE ASKED Copeland: "Isn't this a special district set up fo rthis special purpose, that doesn't so operate elsewhere in the United States or California?"

"I can't say yes or no," Copeland replied.

In another question Betz asked if the two-county transit district would have taxing powers during its first year, even though no services were being offered.

Copeland answered: "I understand that during the first year the district has the authority to levy a small tax for administrative purposes.

"ANY PURCHASES or transactions in connection with transportation would involve a bond issue, which would come later."

Copeland was introduced by Civic Affairs Chairman Bill Thurston.

No action on the proposed two-county district taken by the Civic Affairs Committee.

Area Holds Up On $2 Haircuts

Central Contra Costa has become one of the last Bay Area strongholds in the battle of the barber shop . . . the almost futile fight against a new upsurge in the price of men's haircuts.

Compatible with rising costs in other fields, inroads of higher prices were made Tuesday into the arenas marked by the red and white striped poles in Alameda County, El Cerrito, Pinole, Crockett and Rodeo.

It is costing shaggy men $2 to get their coiffures cut in these areas. But for the time being haircuts will still cost $1.75 in the local area.

The hike was effected Monday night when the Barbers' Union, Local 134, voted for it.

Guests' Visit Here Is School Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Love of Sycamore Road, Orinda, were hosts recently to their friends, Dr. and Mrs. Dick Stiefel from Battle Creek, Michigan.

For Mrs. Love and Mrs. Stifel the visit was a schoolmates' reunion the two having gone through nurses' training together. During their stay a dinner party at the Loves' home brought Mrs. Stefel together with another former school friend, Aubrey Sweet, who had gone to school with her previously when they both lived in Canada.

Rotary Hears of Therapy Center Financial Need

A need for financial aid to equip the new building of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center was divulged Wednesday at the noon luncheon meeting of the Orinda Rotary at Willow Inn.

Past president of the center Edmund Barnett, now a director, told Rotary members that the building, is now being constructed, and that organizations and individuals are being asked to help furnish the center's soon-to-be completed offices.

Each office in the 12,600 square foot building being built near East Contra Costa Junior College, will cost between $250 and $300 to furnish, Barnett said.

He added that the center has expanded its budget to $73,000 this year, compared to a $5000 budget in 1952.

Asked whether the center would be aided by United Crusade contributions, the director answered in the negative, explaining that Crusade expenditure restrictions would impede the center's progress.

He added that he felt the center could do better through an individual campaign.

The Rotary meeting was topped by color films of the recent canoe trip of Explorer Scout Troop 300 into Canada. The troop is sponsored by the Rotary. Scoutmaster Jerry Cullen showed the films and narrated.

General Roliln Moore was program chairman.

Public to Inspect Freeway Route Maps at School

Exhibit maps and cross sections showing the recommended location of the Shepherd Canyon Freeway will be on display in the library of the Miramonte High School Monday and Tuesday between 7 and 9:30 p.m.

The proposed route, concerning which the California Highway Commission held an official hearing on October 3, traverses the area from Eastwood Court and Park Boulevard in Oakland to Bollinger Canyon Road near St. Mary's College in Contra Costa County.

Two sections of the proposed freeway were previously adopted as state highway routes by the Commission, and adoption of the route for this portion will close the gap between the two.

Interested citizens are invited to inspect these exhibits. Division of Highways representatives will be present during the above hours to answer questions and furnish additional information on this location.

Guest speakers running for county and state offices were:

Russell Koch, Democrat, for State Assembly (Donald Doyle, his opponent, was also invited but was unable to attend) and Mel Neilsen and Clarence Wallace, supervisorial candidates for Dist. 2.

Congressional Candidate for 6th District on Democratic ticket Dr. Bob Quinney was present.

A teacher from Miramonte High School, Bob Kallan, explained Proposition 2 on the coming November ballot and urged a yes vote in order that there will be adequate schools in the future and near future.

Colonel Robert M. Copeland as he said, "spoke as a candidate for a job that did not exist" — that of director-at-large for the proposed Rapid Transit District. He explained it was proposed that there be five wards, similar to congressional districts, with a director for each, and two directors-at-large, representing the whole five-county Rapid Transit District.

President of the community club, Mrs. Charles Lucius, was unable to attend and Mrs. John Shally acted as chairman for the evening.

School Costs Raise Tax Bills - In Mail Soon

By NORMAN COLBY

In about 10 days, taxpayers in Contra Costa County will begin looking for their annual bill, which the County Assessor's Office has indicated will average about $1 or $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation higher than last year.

The increase, despite no great change in assessed values, is due mainly to school district costs. to cities like Walnut Creek, which has requested that the county collect its city property taxes.

Fred Wanaka, assistant assessor, said today that about 140,000 tax bills are being prepared. Mailing is scheduled to begin October 29, and will continue through that week.

WHEN PAID IN FULL, they will bring about $45 million in revenue to more than 400 special districts, also to the county, and

Typical rates in the central county, compared with the previous year, are as follows:

Lafayette, $9.303; last year, $7.948. (Code area 7305)

Orinda, $8.79; last year, $7.189. (Code area 8304)

Walnut Creek, $9.65; last year, $7.34 (city limits). However, 95 cents of this is the city property tax now collected by the county. It cannot be properly counted in where comparisons are made. Last year Walnut Creek collected its own property tax.

PLEASANT HILL, $10.50; last year, $8.868. (Code area 7999 Gregory Gardens.)

These rates are consolidations which include the $2.20 basic county tax, in addition to the district taxes.

People who don't want to be rated "delinquent" have two dates to remember.

They are December 10 at 5 p.m., the deadline for the first installment, which may range from half to the full payment; and April 21, when the balance is due.

WANAKA TOLD The Sun that, "The higher tax rate is due primarily to the increase in school costs and also large building programs in many areas.

"About 50 to 60 per cent of our tax bill goes to support schools.

"But also, the higher taxes are due to the demand by the people for more and better service from the county, and from districts, which are increaseing in number.

"The situation is aggravated by the large number of homes, and relatively small number of tax paying industries.

"So, local taxes grow by leaps and bounds," he added.

TOTAL ASSESSED valuation in the county for 1956-57 is $651,118,365.

This indicates that total values are about $2.5 bililons.

The average tax bill this year is based on an assessed valuation of $4000, always computed from a percentage of the actual property value.

Last year, the county was ordered by the State Board of Equalization to raise its asssessed valuation by 35 per cent.

Information may be obtained at branch office at 2717 North Main Street, Walnut Creek, or in the Martinez city hall, 525 Henrietta Street, temporary quarters for the County Assessor's staff.

TOMORROW THE Pleasant Hill Lions Club will stage its annual Flap Jack Feed in Gregory Village. All you can eat for 50 cents will be the order of the day as flap jacks, bacon, sausage, milk, fruit juice and fellowship will be served by members of the club. Bill Vanasen, co-chairman, left, picks up a few pointers from Sam Cohn on the "proper way to flop flap jacks."

Walnut Creek has added another engineer to its Planning Commission — Harold Larsen, 31, of 2175 Oak Vale Road, who replaces Roger Guichard, who recently resigned due to pressing business.

Larsen attended his first meeting as a member of the commission Wednuesday night, and commented on several matters.

Plea for Help From Cookie Factory Found

Mrs. R. A. Feichtmeier of 481 La Vista, Walnut Creek, likes those Chinese fortune cookies, which when opened, have a little slip of paper telling you that you're going on a long trip soon.

But, she told Walnut Creek police, Wednesday, she didn't know what to do when she opened one of the little cookies to read,

"Help me. I'm being held prisoner in a Chinese cookie factory!"

The message was typed, as were all the other forecasts. The can, she said was from the Lotus Cookie Company.

She at first considered it a joke, but the matter weighed more and more heavily on her mind, so Mrs. Feichtmeier finally called the police.

Chief John Jordan opined that her fears of industrial slavery were unfounded since the factory's location was not written on the note, and it was typed in the usual style.

Walnut Boulevard Folk Question Sportsmen's Move

The City Planning Commission decided Wednesday night that it requires more information before passing on an application by the Sportsmens Club to move its building from the old Tunnel Road to the northwest corner of Walnut Boulevard and Ygnacio Valley Road.

Chet Arthur explained during the hearing that the club must clear the present site by December 1, due to freeway construction, and added that the John Himes property desired is not appropriate for residential homes due to power lines overhead.

A large number of Walnut Boulevard residents and members of the area's Improvement Association attended. They asked many questions directed towards the possible effect on the residential character of the neighborhood.

THE COMMISSIONERS carried the matter over until October 31, assuring Arthur that in any event the city council will not get the application before November 7.

The four acres concerned is zoned for R-1, minimum 20,000 square foot lots.

Discussion hinged on the defination of a "community center" which is allowed in this zone, along with churches, schools and playgrounds.

Arthur explained that meetings would be held monthly or semi-monthly, and that the club will not seek a liquor license at a later time. Other organizations may use the building.

It was brought out that there is probably a deed restriction against servicing liquors on the premises.

ARTHUR ADDED that the club had been in its present location for 15 years without complaints, and that it is an "orderly organization. . . not rowdy. . . we have a social event once or twice a year."

Peter Howard of 2385 Walnut Boulevard, said that he would like to hear more details.

Ed Boyer, president of the Walnut Boulevard Improvement Association, said that "Our feeling is that the neighborhood should be kept very residential. There are nice homes there, and we want to keep it that way."

He cited a possible traffic problem, and parking problem.

CITY ATTORNEY John Nejedly explained to Mrs. A. B. Camp of Walnut Boulevard, that this is not a commercial operation, and if it were, it had no place on the agenda, since such is forbidden in R-1, 20,000 zones.

Arthur defended his plans by saying that they will landscape the area, and will not destroy any residental effects. Two other houses on the land will be rented out, he added.

The Sportsmens Club building is to be in an area between the power lines and the grade school, adjacent.

Planner William Anderson said that he felt he could not make a recommendation without learning more about the plans, and the sentiment of the propertyowners. The commission agreed with him.

Subdivisions Held Over

Held over by the County Planning Commission were two proposed subdivisions, Arlene Gardens Unit No. 3, and Old Oak Manor on tract 2522.

The Arlene Gardens property is 16 lots east of Arbutus Drive adjacent to Arlene Gardens Unit No. 1. Suggested minumum lot size is 12,780 square feet.

The Old Oak Manor proposed subdivision is 14 lots on 3.6 acres just east of Walnut Boulevard. Proponents are Fuller and Eyman. Engineer Leo Coleman was present at the meeting. They seek 10,000 square feet as minumum lot size.

Sheriff Cites Plans for PH Substation, Denies Politics

Sheriff Harry A. Brown revealed this week that a Sheriffs Department substation is planned for Pleasant Hill "in the foreseeable future."

At the same time he denied, in a strong letter Tuesday to the Board of Supervisors, that any political maneuvering brought about the establishment of the new substation in the Lafayette area.

The supervisors approved Lafayette as the new site, after it was learned that a state freeway will go through the present Oakland and Mt. Diablo Boulevard site.

BECAUSE $150 per month is the maximum rental for the substation, it was impossible to get an office of suitable size in Pleasant Hill Brown said.

He added, "I reluctantly agreed to the Lafayette move.

"At that time I pointed out that geographically both Pleasant Hill and Alamo-Danville areas might suffer in emergencies due to the added travel time for our patrol cars from the Lafayette area.

"However, recognition was given to the future police needs of such populated areas as Pleasant Hill, and your tentative plans, I was told, included another substation for this area within the foreseeable future."

BROWN'S statement denying that the move to Lafayette was due to a District 2 supervisor candidate's "own efforts and political pressures . . . brought on the board . . ." received an answer yesterday from Candidate Mel Nielsen. (See separate story.)

Brown's comment was, "Such distortions of the truth reflect unfavorably upon our county administrator, your board and the sheriff's department, for it implies that we have indulged in the worst sort of political expediency and ignored the welfare of large segments of our county. . . ."

Need for Higher Teacher Pay Stressed at Meet

Public awareness of the need for higher teacher salaries was stressed at a public meeting of the Mt. Diablo Unified District Employees Association Tuesday night at Mt. Diablo High.

If "professional teachers" are to be obtained the general public must be sold on the idea of higher taxes for schools a panel of speakers pointed out.

Sponsored by the Salary and Finance Committee of the Mt. Diablo Unified District Education Association, the conference is the first such meeting of its kind and has attracted the attention of officials of the California Teachers Association because it presented a new approach to the construction of salaries for teachers.

Bill Gingrich, Pleasant Hill High head conuselor, as president of the local teachers group, discussed the standards for salaries as outlined by the National Education Association.

Fathers Ask $110,000 for Injured Youths

The father of a teenage Concord girl and the father of a soldier on duty in Korea are asking a total of $110,000 damages from an Orinda man and two firms, arising out of a traffic accident July 1.

Claude F. Cox of Brisbane, father of James Preston Cox, 18, and Stanley M. Cook, father of Janet Cook, 15, have filed the suit with Contra Costa superior court.

Named as defendants are Howard Warren Angell, 54, of 11 Daryl Drive, Orinda; his employers, the Rheem Manufacturing Company; and the Waters Equipment Company, owners of the car Angell was driving.

The suit contends that Angell negligently hit the car driven by young Cox, while Cox was eastbound and Angell westbound on Mt. Diablo Boulevard near Hidden Valley Road, Lafayette.

The girl, a passenger in Cox's car, allegedly suffered a broken jaw and other injuries, and asks $75,000. The boy sustained fractured teeth and other injuries and asks $35,000.

Opposition to Two-County District To Be Explained

Ed Larmer, co-chairman of a Committee opposing formation of a Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District, will explain the views of his group Thursday noon before the Walnut Creek Chamber of Commerce.

Organization of the committee was announced on Monday. Some 50 members are headed by Larmer and Dana Murdock, a Richmond attorney.

LARMER SAID that this is the beginning of "a determined Contra Costa effort to obtain a 'no' vote on the bi-county plan." It will be voted upon November 6 by Alamedans and residents in west Contra Costa.

He will give more details Thursday. The Chamber luncheon will be at the Elks Club.

In the Monday statement, Murdock said:

"Citizens should not confuse this bi-county district" with the nine bay area counties rapid transit district.

"They are separate and distinct. I was a member of the original bi-county district committee but I cannot subscribe to the enabling legislation as it was enacted. There are not sufficient safeguards for Contra Costa."

Larmer declared that he felt that the district plan as constituted could result in creation of a district of uncoordinated segments of territory in the two counties and the forced inclusion of large sparsely populated, unincorporated ares.

THE BOARD of Supervisors, the Commuters' Association, and COPE, the political education arm of AFL and CIO in Contra Costa, are already on record as opposed to district formation and urging a "No" vote, he said.

A COPE statement to press said that the plan would benefit Oakland merchants at cost to Contra Costa tax payers, and that there is lack of detailed plans for handling transportation problems.

The personnel of the Committee of 50 is being drawn from Supervisor Districts 1, 2 and 3. Supervisor Districts 4 and 5 are not included in the boundaries of the proposed transit district.

Left Turn Leads To 4-Car Rear End Collisions

A stop for a left hand turn on Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette Sunday started a chain of rear-end collisions that involved four cars.

Joan A. Lucas, 21, of 3303 Beechwood Drive, Lafayette, was cited for unsafe speed after she rammed the car driven by David R. Pitkin, 18, of 19 Via Floreado, Orinda, which had stopped to permit the car ahead to make a left hand turn.

Cars driven by Frank W. Scalise, 16, of 3564 Silver Spring Road, Lafayette, and Otis V. Lindahl, 31, of 28 Harbor Court, Pleasant Hill, rammed into the tie-up.

All four cars were westbound, the California Highway Patrol stated.

Lindahl and his wife were taken to the Kaiser Hospital for treatment.

Nielsen 'Proud' Of His Part in Substation Move

Mel Nielsen, candidate for county supervisor from District 2, said today that he is "proud to have been able to help toward bringing a sheriff's substation to the Lafayette-Orinda area."

"As a commissioner of the Lafayette Fire District I was in a position to join with my fellow commissioners in offering the county space for a substation in a new fire station to be built on Moraga Road in Lafayette," Nielsen said.

"Naturally I joined others in urging the board of supervisors to make use of the space we had to offer and was pleased when they approved the plan," he said.

"In a letter to members of the board Tuesday Sheriff Harry Brown said he understands I am claiming to have negotiated the agreement through the use of what he calls 'political pressures'," Nielsen continued.

"There is a misunderstanding on Brown's part," Nielsen said. "I certainly have no means of exerting any pressure on county supervisors, political or otherwise."

"In that letter the sheriff said that money was, in his own words, 'the one compelling reason why Lafayette was chosen as our new substation site'," Nielsen said.

"Better police protection for the Lafayette-Orinda-Moraga area was my own major concern, not just money," he concluded.

Eating Crow Is Not Batt Family Forte

"Eating Crow" is a common pastime this football season for frustrated home team rooters, but members of the Leonard Batt family of La Bolsa Road would wince at the thought since they acquired "Blackie."

"Blackie" is a giant crow, which 14-year-old Michael Batt discovered last week, as the bird had just pulled himself from the lake.

Why he even fell into the lake is unknown, but he isn't able to fly too well, even now.

Michael tenderly picked up the exhausted bird and took him home.

"He wasn't exactly a stranger, though, I had seen him on the roof of our home, and fed him some crumbs earlier that morning, commented Mrs. Batt.

"We put him in a cage, and he seems very happy, eating corn, and little pieces of meat.

"I suppose that they make good pets, but I'm not so sure that we want to keep him. But, still I'm afraid if we turn him loose, he'll fall in the lake again," she declared.

And what is Blackie's opinion? "Caw, caw," he confided to a Sun reporter.

The birdie's young master is in the Walnut Creek Central School eighth grade.

PH Civic Council To Take Stand Prior to Nov. 6

The transportation committee of the Pleasant Hill Civic Council urged a "NO" vote on the proposed two county transit district at the council's Monday night meeting.

Committee chairman Frank Harter said that residents of Pleasant Hill and all of Contra Costa County do not need the system at this time and that Contra Costa tax dollars would serve residents of Alameda County rather than Contra Costa.

Delegates to the council were instructed by Council President Tom Shreve to return to their parent organizations and report the findings of the committee to the individual groups.

A stand will be taken either for or against the transit district prior to the November 6 election date by the council if the member organizations make known their wishes, said Shreve.

In presenting reasons for the committee's stand on the transit proposal Harter said:

"Why should we pay to modernize the Key System?"

Other reasons for the urged "NO" vote on the part of the committee were: The proposition is not specific enough in its provisions. Contra Costa County will have only one ward, whereas Alameda County will have the remainder and will probably win the two seats for members at large. Approximately 1500 residents of the area use Greyhound at the present time. The district would have unlimited taxing power.

Hartinger Named To Development Unit

Ben Hartinger was appointed as a member of the Contra Costa Development Association by unanimous vote of the Pleasant Hill Civic Council Monday night at Fair Oaks School.

A motion was passed to pay to the treasurer of the organization $5 for the year's dues.

2 Reasons Why To Attend Civic Council Meets

Many people attend Pleasant Hill Civic Council meetings for many different reasons. Some to participate in the development of the community and others to grind an ax.

Ray Taylor, third district supervisor, told delegates of the civic council why he attends the meetings.

1. "To obtain factual information concerning the largest single unincorporated area in the county."

2. "To protect myself."

RABID FOOTBALL fans are "eating crow" when their favorite teams lose this fall season, but this big fellow, a boarder at the Leonard Batt home, 140 La Bolsa Road, Lakewood, is in no danger. "Blackie" came to dinner one day and stayed. Michael Batt, 14, has goodies for him each day.

Orinda Groups to Promote Interest During UN Week

Three Orinda organizations are joining together to stimulate interest in the celebration of U.N. week next week.

The United World Federalists, The League of Women Voters, and the American Association of University Women, are placing posters and displays in various places in the Orinda area.

The committee working on this project is made up of women representing each group; Mrs. Paul Ammen, United World Federalists, Mrs. George Vurek, League of Women Voters and Mrs. Louis Lazaroff, American Association of University Women. "Oct. 24 is gaining universal recognition as one of the most important dates in the history of mankind," according to Mrs. Vurek.

"It was on this day in 1945 that the United Nations officially came in being, the UN charter having been ratified by a majority of the then 51 participating nations.

"That charter embodies the hopes, aspirations, and determinations not only of individuals and peoples, but of an entire world: To reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights . . . to establish justice . . . and to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom.

"As the UN enters its second decade, with its membership enlarged to 76 nations it stands alone as the world's most hopeful bulwark against the dreaded weapons of mass destruction which threaten the very existence of mankind," she stated.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:

As reported, the State Legislature is seriously considering establishing a 65 mph speed limit as a means of reducing traffic accidents.

Without for one moment questioning the motives for such enactment, it is my sincere belief that an arbitrary speed limit will not achieve the desired end.

There is a better way which, if tried, should not only make California the safest state in the Union, but which would set an example for traffic safety throughout the country.

BEFORE GOING into that, let us look at the record. Michigan recently enacted a 65 mph speed limit (previously no speed limit) as a move to cut the traffic toll; yet according to latest reports there has been no lessening of accidents.

Furthermore, it has been intimated that the cost of enforcement would be prohibitive besides overtaxing available manpower.

On the other hand, it has been reliably reported that those states which have increased speed limits have achieved commensurate reduction in accidents!

Many factors contribute to accidents. Not the least of these is indifferent licensing of drivers which permits the mentally incompetent to share the highways with the legion of responsible drivers.

HOWEVER, IT is not the purpose here to dwell on these factors, but to state the case for driver education and control of speed that will win universal support by the majority of drivers.

Now, unbiased investigation will show that the great majority of accidents occur within the defined legal speed limits. That being the case, "speeding" as that term is commonly used has not been the main factor in collisions. Rather, the main factor has been uncontrolled speed, meaning excessive speed under given traffic conditions. And that implies anything from one mph up.

The fact that many serious accidents occur in urban areas in which speed limits are clearly posted presents reasonable proof that arbitrary speed limits of themselves do not prevent accidents.

The best that can be said for them is that they are a deterring force; that, however, is not enough. What we want is something that will cut accidents to the irreducible minimum!

AND RIGHT HERE, the answer has been screaming at traffic control bodies for the better part of a generation. The miracle is that, so far, no one seems to have thought of it. For the answer can be summed up in three words: Education in speed.

In most states, an applicant for a driver's license is subjected to what to all practical purposes is a routine test. He is required to show conversance with the state traffic code (with literacy assumed), is given an eye test, and in some states (as California and New York) is required to drive a few blocks in a city at speeds of 25 mph unless otherwise posted.

If that cursory driving test satisfies the examiner, he is then legally licensed to take his chances on the open highway.

To the best of the writer's belief, not one state in the Union has ever proposed, much less initiated, a program wherein drivers are instructed in handling a car at high traffic speeds.

Yet, if such a program were initiated along with a more careful screening of drivers for mental fitness, the resultant reduction in traffic accidents should be a little short of amazing.

BECAUSE, a driver who knows how to handle a car at high speeds, and who knows what to do in emergencies, is not likely to have accidents.

In this connection, teenagers in Oakland have been begging for drag strips which, by all laws of logic, would be schools for safe driving at high speeds.

Legally established and given police supervision, these drag strips would also be "schools" for adult drivers.

They could be provided with the common traffic "hazards" and standard highway markers and so would provide a check on an applicant's responses to emergency.

THAT, HOWEVER, would not be enough. Through cooperation with the press (which so far has dramatized speed to the exclusion of other factors) there should be initiated an intensive and consistent educational compaign in the courtesies of the road.

As for speed per se, it is this writer's belief that the safest speed limit is no speed limit!

That is not to be construed as a case for unbridled speed, but for controlled speed.

To cite a specific example, traffic should be permitted to flow at prevailing cruising speeds on divided lane expressways, but with control zones where reduced speed is necessary for safety.

On the other hand, winding roads such as the Crow Canyon Road should be posted at the maximum safe limit, and enforced.

Speed limits should be established by highway engineers.

A traffic code should have for its end one thing and one thing only: safety for everybody and not the collecting of fines except for wanton violation of the laws of safety.

In the final analysis, good traffic control means moving traffic at the highest speed consistent with the public safety. Where high speeds are safe, then high speeds should prevail; where unsafe, slower speeds should be posted — and enforced.

Such a code would be fair and so would win support by all responsible drivers.

Sincerely,
ANDREW RYLANDER
900 Jeffrey Lane,
Walnut Creek

(Rylander adds separately that he has been driving since 1903, covering all sections of the U.S. and has been involved in only two minor accidents, for which the other drivers assumed full blame. He also said he has received two parking tickets in his experience.)

County Property Tax Raise is Above Average

Property taxes in Contra Costa County increased 11.9 per cent while the state-wide average was only 5 per cent between 1955 and 1956, the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association announced today.

This increase does not include revenue from other sources than the property tax which is even greater than the property tax increase. The total property tax increase for all units of local government in Contra Costa County was from $35,094,180 to $39,934,375.

School districts were the unit of government showing the greatest tax increase with a jump from $15,827,263 to $18,733,019.

The county government was the second with an increase from $11,443,058 to $12,429,036 while special districts increased from $3,989,183 to $4,689.382.

The municipalities showed the smallest increase—$3,834,676 to $4,082,938—of any of the levels of local government.

During this same period the population of Contra Costa County was only about 2 per cent and the Consumer Price Index (U.S.) only about ¼ of 1 per cent.

Aid Granted Vets' Children

A brighter future is in store for thousands of children of veterans who died of war service because of an educational grant just enacted for them by Congress, according to J. W. Hammond, Veterans Service Officer.

For most children of deceased World War One veterans, Hammond said, the $110 a month assistance may be only a "better for the younger children of World War II and Korean casualties, it spells real opportunity for a career, and the chance to plan a college education.

The law provides 36 months of training, beginning upon completion of high school or at age 18, and continues to age 23—except that persons now under 23 years old have five years from the date of enactment to enroll.

Fall Finds Costume Increasingly Popular

Fall finds the costume more popular than ever, with its most popular version is the empire sheath dress teamed with a variety of tops from the caraco to full-length coats.

Newest of the short jackets is the caraco, which terminates at waistline, bustline or just above the hips.

Officers elected at the meeting include:

John Coffey, president; David Puddy, vice-president; Sue Spatz, secretary; Nancy Barrows, social secretary; and Bonnie Ott, treasurer.

The group voted to continue as a permanent organization, meeting monthly. In off-election years it plans to offer its services to community organizations.

The next regular meeting will be held October 28 at the Thomas Barrow home, 59 Southwood Drive, at 2 p.m.

A "Junior-Ike" group is being organized and sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cunningham. The first meeting will be held at the Cunningham home, 8 Overhill Road, tomorrow at 10 a.m. All interested Junior High and younger students are invited.

Music Course Offered At Junior College

A new music course entitled History and Literature of Music (Music 132) is now offered at East Campus of Contra Costa Junior College. The class will meet for 18 weeks. The class will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. each Monday. The course may be taken for regular college credit if desired.

Lectures and recordings as well as individual research will be used according to Allen Scholl, music instructor in charge of the course.

THE PERIODS OF history covered in the first semester will include the ancient, medieval, renaissance and baroque periods. Men who influenced music profoundly will be studied down through Bach and Handel.

The course is being offered for the first time at the college because of requests from private and public school music teachers who are desirous of studying in detail the men and events of history that have contributed to our western heritage of music.

IT IS ANTICIPATED that the course will be continued for a second semester beginning in January. The second half will cover the period from Haydn through the twentieth century composers.

Classified ads in The Sun bring results—that's the report satisfied advertisers are bringing in to your local newspaper every day.

Here are just a few samples of what happens when an ad appears in the classified ad section of The Sun on Wednesdays and Fridays.

E. A. Moore, P.O. box 381 Walnut Creek, said he had no trouble selling his Pontiac station wagon after he advertised in The Sun.

The word came in from Mrs. William Campbell, 74 Drake Court, alnut Creek, that her western Holly gas range was sold very shortly after readers of The Sun throughout the community spotted her ad.

Another contented local resident was Henry Swab, 3338 Sweet Drive, Lafayette, who reported that the Ford station wagon he had for sale drew several phone calls and an eager customer after his ad appeared in The Sun.

One reason for the overwhelming success of advertisers in The Sun is that Sun classified ads appear automatically in all five Sun papers—The Walnut Creek Sun, The Lafayette Sun, The Pleasant Hill Sun, The Orinda Sun and The Sun Shopping News.

And all for one bargain price, too!

Calories Replace Culture in This Case

A pair of poem-loving ladies decided to duck out one day recently for a poetry lecture scheduled at St. Mary's College, but when they got there, the hall was quite bare, for the lecture had been held the week before.

So the same ladies, undaunted by the wrong date, drove to Dreyer's in Lafayette, where they sat over hot fudge sundaes till almost dinner time, coming home to their hardworking and hungry husbands, NOT full of culture, but CERTAINLY full of calories!

MORE FORTUNATE ALONG LITERARY LINES were the Tanagers, their guests and friends who flocked in fashionable fall garb to the Orchard Nursery last Thurs. for a "Meet the Author" Tea and benefit for the Therapy Center . . . Four Bay Area authors, cleverly interviewed by moderator Ken Carnahan, boosted their book sales by telling you JUST enough to make you feel you HAD to know the rest . . . Pres. Peg Majka greeted arrivals along w/Fran Seamann . . . Haroldine Marvin introducing her mother, Mrs. Nellè Smith, and Mrs M. G. Magioncalba (and THAT'S a contrast in monikers), the trio coming from an early luncheon treat by Billie Keating.

Among the literary ladies listening in rapt attn. to the reviews, Tink Ammon, Jeanette Patterson, Betty Moore, Margaret Kozak . . . Betty Linndsay, Jean Coursen, and Josephine McGookin partaking of punch and tasty tea cakes . . . Edith Scatena and Rose Marie Rinne arriving w/Helen Scheidler and Stella Boyle . . . Huddled around the writers who signed their books w/a flourish were Donna Skaggs, Jen Canrtill, Irene McDonald. Verbal bouquets and boutonierres to the two nurserymen, Stewart Wade and Jack Schneider, for their help in making this such a success!

Louis Lazaroff of Meadow Park Ct. flew in last Sunday from a two and a half month inspection tour for the Asian Foundation which took him by air to India, Pakistan, Afghansitan, Ceylon, Hong Kong, Thailand, etcetera, etcetera.

The Earl Hensleys of Claremont Ave. have been home a week from a holiday in Hawaii and the Hal O'Flahertys have returned from Alaska . . . The Phipps Rasmussens capered in Coronado a recent weekend, but most of us just stayed home.

An Apt Name for This Group

IF THE "CURTAIN CALLERS," the new highschool age thespian group sponsored by the Orinda Art Center, develop a severe case of footlight fever from the rounds of applause they rec'd last wknd. after performances of "Our Heart Were Young and Gay," it's likely they'll soon favor us w/another production as finished, well-done and as much fun as was this, their first venture.

Following in her mother's footsteps was Judy Henderson ((grown yards taller since we saw her last) who came off as true a Cornelia Otis Skinner as the now-famous monologist really was in her own salad days . . . Ann Munroe as Emily Kimbrough, a NATURAL as the contrasting best friend to Judy's capricious Cornelia.

So, back for another bow in print—Judy and Ann, Mark Gathings, Tom Miles, Joan Haefele, Steve Flint, Jim Hill and Clifford Aberham who were all in their element in this delightful presentation, directed by Edith Dinkin . . . Additional cast members wearing knickers, cloches, straw-skimmers and some of the most glamorous low-waisted dresses of the twenties were Alan Hewitt, Jean Bodfish, Bonnie Gardner, Chris Romine, Carol Loewen, Tim Peck, Joanne Sharp and Joan Corelis . . . The working staff, a WONDERful job, by Judy Myers, Becky Harris, Ellie Hilmer, Carolyn Norris, Tom Palsak, Heidi Devin, Gail Hutton, Judy Howes, Sue Flint and others already mentioned in the cast.

The adults in the audience loved it and showed it by laughing hard in all the right laces . . . Yes, our hearts WERE young and gay and we'd see it over again if we could! . . . Why not incorporate such drama activity into the local high school program?

FROM PLAY'S LAUGHABLE LINES—A sample of feminine logic, 1923, when the parents aboard ship before sailing are dispensing advice to dghtr. Cornelia bound for Paris—

Mother: "Now, Cornelia, DON'T talk to strange men . . . and for heaven's sakes, remember to stand up straight, keep your shoulders back!"

Father: (slyly interjecting, in soto voice)—"Yes, Cornelia, so that strange men WILL talk to YOU!"

And Judy's classic reference to the safety pocketbook (moneybag) her mother insists she wears where such things were worn, under everything—"It makes me feel like the Ancient Mariner w/the albatross strapped to my waist". . .

POLITICAL NOTES: Barbara Reid, originator of "Dollars for Democrats" idea found herself in the crowd around Adlai Stevenson at the Richmond City Hall last Thursday for some picture-taking . . . Turnng to see whose arm was around her, she fairly swooned . . . A natty blue serge sleeve belonging to Gov. Stevenson himself!

Ad Men Fascinate Young Fry

SIGNS OF THE TIMES . . . At a room meeting for Mrs. Margaret Coffey's second-grade the other night at Orinda School, teacher told the parents that her second-yr. scholars USUALLY study about the butcher, the baker, the tailor, etc.

But not THIS class, who've decided among themselves they'd much rather delve into the doings of the engineer, the banker, and the ADVERTISING MEN, which certainly must have made paters Ohlyer and Hendrickson (both Ad-men themselves) pleased as punch!

"SHANTY," the Irish setter of the darndest shenanigans, belonging to Jim and Nancy Davison, apparently went window-shopping in Oakland last Friday and somehow wound up away off the beaten track down at Moore Dry Dock Co., where a nice man and stranger to these parts suburban, realized the dog was lost and returned him home.

But in the meantime Nancy, who had waited and waited and wondered how the dog had got out of the locked car, the windows only half-open, finally came home, and after a suggestion from hubby, who was bound on a hunting trip w/Lee Center and Bing Crosby, decided to return to the original spot, if necessary to wait all night till Shanty finally showed.

Heading downhill on Loma Vista, she passed a car pulling upward w/Shanty inside. What's more, the city man was spotted by the Davidson's neighbors, the Bob Petersons and the two men being business buddies, the whole thing called for a celebration! From a downtown observant shopkeeper, Nancy later learned that Shanty HAD returned to the car three times, but the two had just missed one another each time! It might be presumed that "every dog has his day"—window shopping, that it, just as we do!

AFS Dons Tell Of Their Trips

Acalanes students Smed Ambler and Allen Shapiro described their summer trips to Europe to fellow students at a school assembly this week.

Ambler recounted his experiences in Franee, noting that the French people generally have an affection for the United States.

Shapiro spent his summer in Germany.

Both students went abroad under the auspices of the American Field Service.

Foreign students attending Acalanes this year under AFS auspices were also introduced to the student body.

As a climax to the assembly, Principal Stanley Walgren presented George Harrison, Acalanes swimming entry in the International Olympics, with a travel check the gift of the Don student body.

Walgren noted that Harrison is one of two high school swimmers in the United States to succeed in winning entry to Olympic competition.

Young Orindans Dance on TV

Eight eager boys and girls from the Orinda Nursery School last Wednesday ventured forth across the bridge to take part in the television program, "Hop, Skip and Dance."

After a half hour of exciting preparation, during which they became first-hand experts on the new studio paraphernalia, the children doffed their shoes and went on the air with their dancing host, Dick Ford.

The children's appearance was arranged by Mrs. Frank Newman as part of an extended music program in the Nursery School this year.

"Hop, Skip and Dance," a creative dance program for preschool children, is one of KQED's most popular features, and last year won an award as the best children's television series.

Orinda's children, like Dick Ford's previous guests, performed with unrehearsed abandon and a good deal of appeal, especially to their many watching friends at home.

The children who took part were Francie Stack, Martha DeLaveaga, Friedel Braumoeller, Debbie Saunders, Kurt Bottjer, Kent Woodcock, Timmy Howard and Ralph Newman.

Don Parents 'Attend School'

Acalanes parents squeezed into student desks Monday evening for a first hand look at the academic program daily encountered by their children.

More than 800 parents turned out for a "Back to School" program in which parents moved through the regular day of their students in a shortened 10-minute per period schedule.

Principal Stanley Walgren welcomed the parents at the start of the program in an orientation session in the Don gym. Teachers described the curriculum of each course as parents reported for an average of six classes during the evening.

The program was sponsored by the Acalanes Parents Club.

Troop 120

Brownie Troop 120 held their formal investiture recently in the garden and patio of Mrs. W. E. Christiansen, the leader's home, at 18 Greenwood Court, Orinda.

She was assisted by co-leader, Mrs. Eugene B. Reid.

Parents and friends were present to witness the pinning of the following girls:

Donna Beitler, Linda Christiansen, Beth Glascock, Sandra Ivy, Pamela Mittell, Cathy Montgomery, Crissy O'Brien, Gwendolyn Reid, Cathy Rogers, Valerie Smith and Patsy Stevenson.

Each girl then presented her mother with a gardenia corsage taken from the mounds of greenery that surrounded the improvised "pond" where the investing took place.

Four older sisters of the candidates also participated in the ceremony. They were Intermediate Scouts Sandra Mittell, Marsha Montgomery, Marilyn Smith and 2nd year Brownie Barbara Glascock.

Troop 235

Ten Orinda sixth-graders of Girl Scout Troop 235 last Saturday journeyed to the San Francisco Airport to explore some of the ups and downs of the airways.

Under the expert guidance of one of their fathers, George Trimble, flight engineer for Pan American Airways, the girls toured the Pan American maintenance base and studied the cockpits of a Boeing Stratocruiser and a DC-7.

One of the high points of their trip was a visit to the control tower of the new Terminal Building, where they watched the approaching plane on the radar screen, and then ran out to see the same plane land on the field.

The girls, all of whom hope to achieve their aviation badge were accompanied by their troop leader, Mrs. George Trimble, who arranged the trip, and her assistant, Mrs. William Bray.

Those who went were Sharon Bray, Mary Hansen, Susan Hendrickson, Vinnie Gilbert, Cherie Jackson, Sharon Mitchell, Julie Newman, Diana Stevenson, Susan Trimble and Judy Wilder.

Troop 200

New Scouts were welcomed and old Scouts awarded at the meeting of Orinda Scout Troop 200 last Monday in the Fellowship Hall of the Community Church.

Receiving their Tenderfoot Investitures Monday were Barry Catterton, Scott Huntley, Bob Rudolph, Robert Walling, Mike Dauphinee, Paul Rieger and Alan Sorrick.

Awards for their leadership during the past year went to Rob Bowles, Steve Smith, Steve Baker, Richard Bowles, Chris Felchlin, Richard Gustavson and Mike Hageman.

First Class Awards were presented to Richard Bowles, Bill Hamilton, Dick Sutliffe, Richard Gustavson, Jay Nutt and Dan Thurston.

Paul Ammen, Jay Jacobus, Larry Switzer, Steve Glass, Mike Sorem and Dave Williams received Second Class Awards.

Year Stars went to Steve Baker, Chris Penchlin, Mike Hageman, Steve Smith, Rob Bowles, Richard Gustavson and Tom Hutton. Steve Smith also received a perfect attendance award.

Dons Will Hold Car Safety Test

Acalanes industrial arts students will conduct a campus car safety check next Wednesday at the high school. All cars used by students and parked on the campus parking lot will be required to pass a safety performance test.

The check will include testing brakes, lights, steering mechanism, tires, clutch action, window glass, mufflers and drivers' licenses. Cars which fail to pass the car check will be rechecked within a few days to allow owners time to rectify mechanical defects.

All cars deemed safe will be identified with Don safety decals. Only cars labeled "safe" will be allowed on campus in the future. In a similar check last year, 115 student and teacher owned cars were inspected. Twenty of these required repairs before they were allowed on campus.

This year's Don safety check, conducted jointly the Acalanes industrial arts department and driver education instructor John McLean, will also serve as the official inspection for Aacalanes students participating in the Mobilegas Economy Run the following Saturday.

Orinda JayCees Feted at Party

The Ardor Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin was the scene last week of a Sunday afternoon cocktail party for new members and guests of the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce. Martin is president of the newly formed group.

Assisting Mrs. Martin as hostess to the guests during the afternoon were wives of the other club officers, the Mesdames:

Al Baer, Bob Boyles, James Dana, Monte Haslett, Horton Hill, George Kilbourne, Bill Langon, Eric Neilsen and Bob Wale.

Oil Progress Week* lasts all through the year at Standard

Finding new oil is vital. By 1965 America's needs will rise 20%. To locate additional oil deposits, Standard geologists explored 33 states and 40 countries last year on foot, in planes and even in specially designed "swamp buggies" (above). As a result, we found substantial new reserves for your future use . . . this is Oil Progress.

Producing oil for more and more uses led us to far places . . . even to man-made "islands." Last year, in the Western Hemisphere alone, Standard drilled 107 test wells —many in remote spots. But even with new sources harder to find we added nearly three times as much oil to reserves as we took from the ground . . . this is Oil Progress.

Standard puts oil to work for better living in hundreds of products . . . asphalt roads for safe, comfortable driving; gasolines, oils and tires; wrinkle-resistant fabrics; stronger plastics; detergents to make housework easier; wax for candles and food cartons; plant foods; even cosmetics, salves and ointments . . . this is Oil Progress.

Research in oil promises new products . . . plastics strong as steel; new synthetic fibres; better insecticides. Even commercial atomic power is closer with new Standard-developed oils. In atomic machinery they last two to three times longer under radiation that makes some petroleum oils hard enough to drive nails . . . this is Oil Progress.

*October 14 to 20 is Oil Progress Week, a reminder that 15,000 oil industry researchers produce an average of six new inventions every working day.

Smiths Hits 114% Of Crusade Goal

Bill Schatz, manager of Smiths, was congratulated this past week by Ted Barcelon, area chairman of the United Crusade, for the 114 per cent of the Smiths goal reached by 98 per cent of the Broadway store employees.

With slightly more than one week remaining until the end of the campaign, United Crusade leaders and hundreds of volunteers are girding for an all-out drive in Contra Costa County with hopes high that they can reach the quota of $424,955.

Percentage reports from virtually every city and area in the county indicate that donations are ahead of last year and that individual contributions are on a higher level than at any time before.

Report meetings will be held in several cities under the direction of of Duncan Knudsen of Walnut Creek, Contra Costa County United Crusade president, and Fran Watson, Richmond banker and chairman of the campaign.

This week has been set for the house-to-house canvass throughout the county and scores of women volunteers, all giving of their time and effort in the interest of the agencies which will benefit from the drive, are hard at work in an endeavor to reach the quotas assigned to the various areas.

"We are going into the last lap of the campaign and I am sure that if everyone in Contra Costa County realized the good work that has been done and is being done by the welfor, youth, social, health and family agencies affiliated with the United Crusade, they will give more than ever before," Knudsen said today.

"It is gratifying from the reports sent to me to date," Watson said, "to learn that the general level of giving is higher and that more and more residents of the county are becoming aware of their responsibilities as citizens and are giving their fair share."

High School Enrollment Climbs Fast

Contra Costa County's high school poupulation is increasing more rapidly than is the statewide high school population, County Superintendent B. O. Wilson said today.

A report by the State Department of Education on the average daily attendance in 1955-56 shows Contra Costa County high schools, grades 9-12, increased to 17,906, or 7.5 per cent over attendance in 1954-55.

During the same period the attendance in the high schools of the state increased 6.5 per cent.

Neither did Contra Costa County follow the state pattern in elementary attendance, in which the total for kindergarten through eighth grade was 66,013, a gain of only 4.9 per cent, as contrasted with the state-wide gain of 7.4 per cent.

In total attendance, kindergarten through junior college, the attendance was also lower than the state figure—5.3 per cent for the county versus 7.2 per cent.

Wilson explained that apparently the reason for the greater increase in Contra Costa County high school attendance is because children graduating from elementary parochial schools established within relatively recent years are now beginning to enter public schools.

REPLACING TIRES

When you replace the tires on your car, it's best to have all tires the same size and the same tread design. When you rotate tires from wheel to wheel you will not have any problems of uneven ride or uneven wear caused by unmatched tires.

Cat Club Plans Champion Show at Armory, Nov. 10-11

The Mt. Diablo Cat Club Inc. will hold its first annual championship show, November 10-11 in the California National Guard Armory, 1800 Carmel Street, Walnut Creek.

This will be the first championship cat show in Contra Costa County, and all breeds and classes of pedigreed cats will be entered, including Long Hairs, Siamese, Abyssinians, Burmese, Russian Blues, Manx and household pets.

Owners may enter their cats by writing Jean Quiner of 21839 Princeton Way, Hayward, for entry blanks.

Judges will be H. O. Reed of Argos Indiana, all breed show, and Mrs. C. C. Strange of El Paso, Texas, for competition among long hair and short hair specialty groups.

Plans are for showing of movies on cats at the intermissions from 1 to 2 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m.

Playshop to Open 'Double Door' Soon

A "Double Door" will open in the local area November 9, and local theater goers are expected to flock to Acalanes High School to see what's behind it.

What they'll find is another production of the Lafayette Playshop, whose players will attempt to excoriate the nerves and send agreeable shivers up the spines of their audiences for this tight and cunningly built play by Elizabeth McFadden.

The show will run November 9, 10, 16 and 17. Curtain time is 8:30 each night.

Directed by Lloyd Sisler, who presented the successful "Rainmaker" last summer, the play will feature veteran little theater performer Thais Ackerman as the domineering Victoria Van Brent.

Joy Merrick, a newcomer to the Lafayette Playshop with theater background in England and Canada, will play Caroline, a girl helpless before her sister Victoria's maniacal firmness. Ed Fosdahl, who last work with the Playshop was in Sabrina Fair, will play Rip Van Brent, who indirectly causes Victoria's final collapse.

Supporting the tense action are George Becker as Doctor Sully; Lloyd E. Holton as Attorney Mortimer Neff; Kay Loorz as Anne, Rip's bride; Roy Fisher as Mr. Chase, the jeweler; Sherman Coakley as Lambert, a Pinkerton operative;

Ada McDaniel as Avery, the housekeeper; Charles Bosley as Telson, the butler; and Phyllis Wysling as Louise, a maid.

Costuming and make-up will be in the hands of Jude McHaney, while lighting will be by Barry Wysling and the Victorian sets by Les Ackerman.

Advance tickets are now on sale.

Working Wife Helping Her Family Pay for Home

One out of three of today's modern matrons not only plays a key part in populating and selecting her home, but in paying for it as well. And in all three capacities she is one of the potent forces in improving the standard of the American home, according to Barney Gilbert, president of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

Basis is current national figures highlighting the importance of the nation's expanding economy and real estate industry.

"The working wife has had a part in boosting the average family income 30 per cent, from $4000 in 1946 to $5200 in 1955. This is one of the most striking developments in the American economy since World War II, and promises to be even more important in the future," Gilbert said.

GILBERT CITED U.S. Census Bureau figures showing that almost one of every three married women had a job outside her home last year.

He said that the percentage of wives gainfully employed was 29.5 per cent, the result of a steady increase since 1947 when it was 21.5 per cent. At the peak of wartime employment in 1944 it was 25.6 per cent, which was considered phenomenal.

Paralleling this increase in the number of working wives has been a striking growth in the rate of home ownership which may not be unrelated, Gilbert observed.

In 1956, 60 per cent of the American families owned their own homes, a substantial increase over the 55 per cent of 1950.

Another clue to the relationship between increases in home ownership and the contribution of the working wife toward that end is found in the assertion of the Federal Housing Administration that a "large percentage" of its home mortgage loan insurance has been extended in view of the adequacy of family income, to which the wives controbute, to sustain mortgage payments.

AND THE FEDERAL housing agency is currently studying the matter with the possibility that it may attach even greater significance to wives' incomes.

Business analysts, Gilbert said, have observed that there are two main effects of the income of working wives on the American market, including that for homes.

The first of these is a stabilizing force—the family of a working wife is obviously less likely to be deprived of all its income should the family head become unemployed. This means that the family is in a better position to maintain essential credit payments, such as those on mortgages, thus protecting their equity.

THE SECOND IS a key contribution to what has been called "the drastic upward revision in living standards of the past few years" based on a 50 per cent increase since 1947 in the number of families with $4000 to $7500 cash income.

Gilbert quoted Dean Arthur R. Upgren of Dartmouth College as estimating that in less than 10 years—given a continuation of an expanding economy and the participation of married women in it as wage earners at the current rate — the average family will have an annual income of $6760.

"According to Dean Upgren's estimates," he said, "this will bring one million families a year across the $5000 income level. This is most meaningful in terms of the drive of American families, already noted in surveys made by our National Association of Real Estate Boards, for better housing."

He noted that economists generally look on the $4000-$5000 income band as the dividing line between essential and optional family spending. Below this level, a family spends most of its money for the bare necessities of life.

ONCE SUBSISTENCE needs are met with income to spare, spending stress falls on satisfying tastes and in gratifying preferences.

"For years realtors have noted that the wife plays a major part in selecting the house," he added, "although we used to say that the husband passes on her choice from the standpoint of family finances.

"Now it appears that working wives, because of their key contribution to family finances, may have a larger voice in the spending of joint funds.

"Perhaps it's true that it's becoming more of a woman's world—if so, there are some redeeming features from a male viewpoint," he added.

Citizens Group For Control of Floods Formed

A Citizens Commtitee for Flood Control has been organized with Bryan Shary of Concord as chairman, it was announced.

Bryan commented this week that, "The Citizens Committee has been organized in an attempt to protect the present and future residents in the Zone 3-B area from the ravages of overflowing creeks.

"THE PROBLEM of safeguarding the property and investments of the citizens of the district is everyone's concern and will benefit all in the rapidly growing area.

"A special election will be held to pass a 10-million dollar bond issue for a flood control program which will be constructed over a 9-year period.

"Both state and federal aid of more than 3 million dollars will be forthcoming if the program is adopted," he said.

The seven-man executive committee includes Stephen W. Johnson, 2795 Cherry Lane, Walnut Creek; Richard J. Mitchell, 1672 Mary Drive, Concord; Larry Cordireo, 2141 Huron Drive, Concord.

FRANK HANRAHAN, 297 Kathleen Drive, Concord; Richard J. Donovan, 1375 Grove Way, Concord; and Norman T. Burkhim, 1279 Rudgear Road, Walnut Creek.

The Citizens Committee's headquarters are located at 2030 Mt. Diablo Street, Concord.

Information on the proposed flood control program may be had by contacting the office. Persons wishing to volunteer time to work on the bond campaign are welcome, said Shary.

Kern Tells Why Proponents Are For Prop. 10

Arguments in favor of Proposition 10 were summarized this week by George T. Kern of Walnut Creek and chairman in Contra Costa and Alameda Counties of the Citizens Committee for Proposition 10.

"The proposition," he said, "is an addition to Article 24 of the California Constitution, placed on the November ballot by vote of the State Legislature, and would allow the state to contract with private architects and engineers for the design of public works which the obtainable staff of a state agency is unable to do in the time required by the public interest.

"Proposition 10 was designed after a two-year Senate study, which found that such an amendment was necessary to break the bottleneck in the planning of freeways, highways, colleges, hospitals, penal institutions and other public works projects.

"The federal government, the great majority of the other states, and our own county government and cities follow the practice of employing private planning firms, with proven results of economy.

"The courts have held that under present law the State of California is denied the legal right of enlisting such help, even though this assistance may be desperately needed in times of peak work loads.

"THE MEASURE clearly protects civil service employees, present and potential, and will assure the continuation of the excellent quality of California's civil service system by reducing the pressure for lowering its standards to expand state planning staffs."

Kern, former president of the Sun Valley Association, urged a "Yes" vote on Proposition 10.

He listed endorsers as including the California Taxpayers Association, California State Chamber of Commerce, California State Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, County Supervisors Association of California, State Builders Exchange, California Farm Bureau Federation, "and over 200 more major and minor groups."

INSURANCE

Seventy-eight per cent of car owners in the United States carry fire and theft insurance, according to the National Automobile Club.

Visited by Doctor Son

Dr. Edward Woolsey and his wife attending the medical convention in San Francisco have been spending the week with his mother, Mrs. Zoe Woolsey at 20 Via Floriado in Orinda.

He is a retired captain of the Navy, and has taken over the supervision of gynecology and obstetrics at Harlan Hospital.

Pigskin Picks Win Prize

D. Caldwell, 1355 El Curtola, Walnut Creek, parlayed his pigskin prognostications into a valuable prize last week when he picked 18 winners out of a possible 20 in the Diamond K Supply's Football Contest.

For his grandstand-quarterbacking, Caldwell received a $5 merchandise order at Diamond K.

He was the only winner out of 55 entries, however. Next closest to a perfect slate of picks was M. J. Pennington, 3118 Lonee Court, Concord, who guessed right on 16 games.

With the contest forms, including 20 Saturday games, being run in The Sun and Sun Shopping News each week before the games are played, the selection of 20 winners will win a $25 merchandise order.

Selection of 19 winners of the 20 games will earn $15 in orders, while 18 winners means $5 of Diamond K merchandise.

In case of a tie in winning guesses, the prize will be divided equally.

Entries, clipped out of The Sun, must be turned into Diamond K Supply, 2671 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, or postmarked before 11 a.m. each Saturday.

Officially postponed or tied games count as "wins" for both teams.

If more than one winning entry is submitted by any one person, only the entry with the greatest number of correct answers will be counted.

Winners will be notified the following week in The Sun.

Around Acalanes

By JERRY MORIARTY

The football team jubiliantly bounding off the field last Friday had good reason to do so. They definitely achieved their dual purpose.

The final gun went off with Acalanes out in front 27 to 6. Thus they won the game and also the Acalanes-Diablo Annual Trophy for the second consecutive year. Besides successfully accomplishing these two things they are also tied for first place with Pittsburg and Las Lomas.

So, once again, tonight we have a big game, as it is against Pittsburg!

Already, the seniors are looking ahead to the problem of graduating. The first part of this problem concerns the Senior Math Test which everyone must pass before receiving a high school diploma. This test will be given a week from today in the Senior Problems classes.

Also keeping the seniors busy is their impending dance. On November 16, they will present their "extra" centered around an Ivy League theme.

Working exceptionally hard to carry this theme to its utmost are co-ordinating chairmen Priscilla Myers, Pat Courtright, and Lynne Henrietta.

The Junior Statesmen Club organized a mock election on various political issues, some local candidates, and the presidential candidacy.

This was in order to give high school students a chance to see what it will be like when they reach voting age and have to make a decision.

Along with this, it contributed to the simulation of interest about the coming election, on all three levels: state, local, and national.

Following the exciting, action filled game on Friday night happy rooters attended a number of parties. Jane Pendleton had an open house which everyone enjoyed a great deal. Some of those seen were:

Lynne Wiggins, Sara Fowler, Ann Hightower, Frank Malynn and Dick Neuman. Heidi Devin also had an open house where many of the same people managed to appear, along with numerous others.

A SERIES OF CONCERTS featuring prominent Bay Area artists will be presented to the general public, starting at 8 p.m. Sunday, at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Orinda, under the sponsorship of the St. Stephen's Choir Association. Rehearsing are, left to right, Olivia Hollister, Choir Association president; Stan Stidham, tenor soloist; Jane Deubner, soprano soloist and association secretary; Elmo Moorehead, treasurer; Betty Collamer, vice-president, and Donald Aird, choir director. The concerts will be given the third Sunday evening of each month except April.

Moraga Dateline

By EVA THUNE, DR 6-5593

Fall has definitely decided to make her appearance. Cold nights, frost on the pumpkin, and all the rest! Walnut harvesting is in full swing, and the United Crusade Drive has been the Order of the Day. My excuse for deserting the Column last week.

Many thanks for a job well done to my committee, who did all the hard work of paving the way for collections.

Calling for Precinct 2 were Mrs. Elsie Cummings and Mrs. Elsie Falconer, both of Rheem Boulevard. On the phone for Precinct 1 were Mrs. Hilda Franklin and Mrs. Jo Rogers, both of Larch Avenue.

In charge of collecting from the business houses was Mrs. Marion Devin, with Mrs. Clare Fleuti, Marge Hubbard and Jimmy Cuato working with her.

A red-letter night for the newly formed Moraga Lions Club was held last Saturday night when representatives of 40 chapters in the Bay Area, 250 people, attended a dinner at the Holy Ghost Hall, Saranap, in honor of Charter night and the Installation of Officers.

Chase Holaday, District Governor, 4-B1, presented the charter and performed the installations.

Presentation of Banner by Lyman Theal, Sect., Calif. and Nev. Assn. of Lions Clubs, District 4, and Presentation of Gifts, by Sheldon Rankin, Deputy District Governor, Golden Gate Region No. 4, were accepted by Robert L. Bissonnette, newly installed president of the Moraga Lions Club.

COLORFUL EATING

THE WELCOME MAT is out for the newly opened EDY'S restaurant, which served their first patrons Monday. Managing the pink and blue decorated eating place, located on Park Street in the Rheem Shopping Center, is Mrs. Eleanor Dalzell, with Mrs. Parlee Sanders and Mrs. Barbara Wells wearing the pink uniforms.

Note the clock on the wall, blue numerals, and striped candy stick hands. Pink sponges, cash register, and coffee cups add to the general scheme.

Welcome and good luck!

Also, to welcome the MORAGA BOOTERY, next door, which is scheduled to open tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. (Paul and Yvonne) Blais, owners and operators, are working the clock around in order to be ready to open when planned.

Specializing in children's shoes, they will be glad to help you with your problems. Good Luck to you in your new business!

A surprise Bon Voyage party was held for the Moraga Postmaster, Mrs. Elinor Dickenson, at the home of Mrs. Hilda Franklin, Larch Avenue, last night. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Helen Kamens and Mrs. Evelyn Kazar.

Elinor, who is scheduled to leave on the first lap to the Virgin Islands to visit her sister and brother-in-law tomorrow evening, was thoroughly surprised when a supposed movie date turned into a party, with gifts, refreshments and having her fortune told.

Much will be told upon her return.

BELATED WISHES

My apologies to Ed Kamens for forgetting to wish him a Happy Birthday. About two weeks ago, Ed was treated to an impromptu birthday party when friends called to wish him luck and stayed to dinner and the evening. Helen tells me it was more fun than if planned.

Monday was the 14th birthday of Johnny Thune. Celebrated quietly at home, with Donnie Franklin as dinner guest. Johnny didn't seem to feel any pain at growing older.

Due to the increased amount of time required on home work for high school, Johnny has found it necessary to retire from the paper route. Our new paper boy, seen riding a bike and wearing a paper bag across his shoulders, is Donnie Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bing Franklin, of Larch Avenue.

Donnie will continue to give the same good service he gave while substituting for Johnny.

Don't know what the fascination is that Pasadena holds, but both John Thune and Bill Lance, next door neighbors on Camino Pablo flew down there this past week, for a couple of days.

Not together, mind you, but they both agree this is the best part of Calif.

Plans for future social events being held for the Moraga Junior Horseman's Association, include a Halloween Party, on Saturday night, October 27, for members and guests only.

On the night of November 10, the club will go in a body to see the show at the Cow Palace; 80 seats have been reserved, so members, if you haven't gotten your reservation in yet, get on the ball!

PEDESTRIAN RIGHTS

Many motorists seem to forget that in the eyes of the law a pedestrian has just as much right to walk on the highway as a motorist has to drive on it, says the California State Automobile Association. There must be equal respect for the rights of each if accidents are to be avoided.

Local Trio Enrolls At Utah University

Three local residents are among the 7,600 students who registered for fall classes at the University of Utah.

Locals include Ronald Dean Fowler and Janet Marie Peterson of Orinda and Annelee Smith of Lafayette.

Fowler, the son of M. H. Fowler, 47 Camino Encinas, is a senior student of journalism. Miss Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Peterson, 5 Abbott Court, is a transfer student at Utah.

Miss Smith, a daughter of C. Ronald Smith, 844 Las Trampas, is a sophomore studying economics. She is a 1955 graduate of Acalanes High School.

Church Slates Choir Concert at Service Sunday

A concert of anthems which have been chosen the favorites of the congregation and choir of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church will be given by the choir during a choral evensong service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the church, 12 Via Las Cruces, Orinda.

Choir members Jane Deubner, soprano, and Stanley Stidham, tenor, will be heard as soloists. Mrs. Deubner will sing "Rejoice Greatly, O Daughter of Zion" from Handel's "Messiah," and Mr. Stidham, "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," by Mendelssohn.

The junior choir will assist the congregation with the choral service, and ushers will be members of the Young People's Fellowship. The concert will be followed by a coffee hour at which the Woman's Auxiliary will serve.

Included in the concert will be works by Mozart, Bach, Byrd, Billings, and Mendelssohn. The choir is directed by Donald Aird, who also directs the Berkeley Chamber Singers, and who is widely recognized for his sensitive musicianship and fine grasp of the choral idiom.

Taxpayers Consider New Government Study Group

The Acalanes Taxpayers' Committee took under advisement this week the suggestion that an area-wide committee be established to study the many common problems of intercommunity growth and forms of local government administration.

The suggestion was put forth by Phillip Breck Jr., East Bay public relation consultant and member of the Berkeley Planning Commission.

In an informal talk before the Taxpayers' group at a breakfast meeting at El Nido, Lafayette, Breck pointed out that in other parts of the Bay Area, a great many common problems were not being solved because of political boundaries and provincial interests and that it was quite possible that some new type of governmental organization must be developed.

In answering questions pertaining to the Orinda, Moraga, Lafayette area, Breck stated that because of the provincial interests and intense viewpoints on development in each area it would be most difficult from information available to suggest any particular form of government administration.

A logical step to ascertain what the people wanted, feasible types of local administration, and areas of differences would be to create a group to study the problems, Breck stated.

The Acalanes Taxpayers' Committee is a committee of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association. Ted Barcelon, Lafayette, is chairman of the local group.

Group to Learn Of 'Furnishings'

Members of the Orinda Home Department will hold their next meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. Idress Abbott, 27 Sunrise Hill, Orinda.

The discussion topic will be "Home Furnishings and How to Arrange Our Furniture." Project Leader is Mrs. H. J. Hart. Anyone interested in this subject is invited.

Proposed Transit Plan Not Answer

What are we going to do about formation of the proposed two-county rapid transit district?

There is only one thing we can do, and that is vote "NO" when the proposition appears on the November 6 ballot.

Why should we not support this plan when Contra Costa County is obviously going to need some form of rapid transit in the near future?

Primarily, the two-county system, which must not be confused with the nine-county rapid transit plan, is designed basically to serve the East Bay cities. Specifically, it is formulated to counteract the possibility of future crippling strikes by Key System and to provide for some means of public transportation should Key System go out of business.

This is not a matter of speculation. It has been readily admitted by proponents of the two-county plan.

We cannot see now how Contra Costa County can benefit sufficiently from the plan to warrant the possible cost to our taxpayers. Opponents point out that the board, if he district is formed, will have unlimited taxing powers.

Admittedly, we might be accused of being shortsighted in opposing this plan, because some form of rapid transit will be needed. But there is much to be desired that is not adequately explained in the present plan.

Feeder systems will be necessary when the nine-county plan is organized. Inter-city and community transit systems will be needed as our area continues to develop. It is entirely possible that the East Bay cities would not be willing to foot their proportionate part of the bill for this expensive development of Contra Costa County.

This is all allied with the fact that such a transit plan would have to be tied in with the nine-county plan, and this two-county plan simply hasn't been designed for this purpose.

As this area continues to mushroom in growth, it is highly probable that sudden formation of a reliable transit district in this area would be a necessity.

It is highly questionable that, in this case, the proposed district could come up with "X" million dollars to furnish service to our residents.

There is one possible alternative that should be investigated. East Bay Municipal Utility District has the organization and the power to set up an area wide transit system. It is quite possible that they could handle transit proposals through existing administrative organization.

The recommendation to vote "NO" on the proposed two-county system is not a snap-judgement. We have talked with all parties and listened to many arguments and discussions.

A vote against the proposed district has also been recommended by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors, The Contra Costa Commuters Association, The Pleasant Hill Civic Council Transportation Committee, AFL and CIO labor spokesmen and a recently formed citizens group.

Therefore, we again urge a "NO" vote November 6 when the proposed two-county rapid transit question appears on your ballot.

TRAFFIC SAFETY—for youthful pedestrians and also for vehicle drivers—is the objective of the Junior Traffic Patrol near the many grammar schools of Central Contra Costa County. This early-morning scene at Stanley Boulevard and Quandt Road, Lafayette, is typical. Alan Banducci of the Junior Traffic Patrol raises his arm and halts the three lads at right—left to right, Paul Chignell, Danny Jones and Marty Lein—who had been starting to cross in front of the bus. —Sun photo by Mattson

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:

I believe Mr. Pedder's letter on "tight money" in your October 12 edition showed a better recognition on his part of political issues than of the economic facts of life.

He recognizes that people are feeling the "crimp of tight money." You bet they are. Talk to anyone who has recently tried to buy or sell a house and you will get a first-hand insight into its most obvious effects.

MR. PEDDER'S letter goes to some length to excuse the administration from accepting blame for the present money policy. He relates the true, but rather irrelevant for reasons indicated below, fact that the Federal Reserve Board is bi-partisan. It is this reluctance to shoulder responsibility and this use of the FRB veil with which I most wish to disagree.

The Treasury of the United States is part of the Executive Branch, responsible to and under the authority and direction of the President. Given our present high level of government debt, annual receipts and disbursements, the Treasury can far overshadow the FRB by varying the rate of receipt or disbursement or by manipulation of the public debt. All such acts are within the discretionary powers of the Treasury. They are tools of the President to be used to turn out cheap or expensive money as he sees fit. He chose our present "tight money," no one else.

Now what does this choice mean? Simply that credit for the average citizen becomes expensive and in the case of housing unobtainable in many cases?

NO! IT MEANS a large devaluation of the worker's assets, his training and education relative to the owner's assets, his capital. It means a tight rein our entire economic growth, of our development and use of numerous technological innovations, and this while many regard Russia's rapid closing of the gap in industrial output a major threat!

Now tight money isn't completely bad. A comprehensive study goes far beyond a "letters" column, and also goes far beyond purely monetary considerations. It is this reluctance on the part of the present administration to accept responsibility for and integrate monetary and many other policies beneath the Chief Executive that I deplore.

It is this reluctance that reinforces my desire to vote Democratic.

What They Say

Locals Ready for Election

In the midst of today's political tumult. American citizenry is being bombarded with pleas, exhortations and practical reasons to cast the vote for one presidential candidate or the other.

These appeals are being made in a wide variety of ways — all designed to convince the voter that a vote for President Eisenhower or a vote for Gov. Stevenson is a vote for the greatest good for the country.

LOCAL VOTERS are responding to this fire-spitting campaign in three ways: (1) They've scoffed at the "opposition" party's propaganda for years, and continue to do so. (2) Facts have been brought out in recent weeks which have changed their minds about who's the best man for President. (3) Locals are still digesting the records and charges, and won't decide on a favorite till November 6 draws near.

Those in the dwindling third group are really the ones the compaign will be aimed at from here on.

How large is this group? Have most local residents already made up their minds where they'll place their Xs November 6?

THIS IS WHAT your roving reporter wondered as he asked, "Have you decided which candidate will get your vote for president?"

The campaign was a waste as far as Mrs. J. W. Arnold, 209 Camino Pablo, Orinda, is concerned. "I decided a long time before the campaign began," she stated.

There isn't much political dissension in the Arnold family, she continued, as "my husband and I usually vote for the same candidates."

JUST AS ADAMANTLY sure of his candidate was E. T. Lytle, 3628 Chestnut Street, Lafayette, who answered with a sharp, "Yes!"

And there is no dissuading him from his stand, Lytle implied.

Mrs. Claude C. Corkadel Jr. 918 Anita Court, Lafayette, spoke for her family when she said "I think we're pretty definite."

The campaign, she felt, was 'wonderful" in "helping us see what the candidates are and what they stand for."

NO CAMPAIGN could influence the political opinion of Mrs. F. R. Axton, 3 Mira Loma, Orinda. She stated that she and her family "have always voted for this party. It's been that way all my life."

Mrs. Axton admited, however, that the record of her favorite candidate did influence her decision to vote for him.

"Both my husband and I have made up our minds," Mrs. Donald F. Nott of 733 Duke Circle, Pleasant Hill, told The Sun. Marcella Norton of 30 Yetta Drive made up his mind about four years ago as did his family. The Nortons will all be voting the same ticket November 6.

MRS. RAYMOND W. Netherton of 2111 Magnolia Way, Walnut Creek, said: "Yes, we have decided for whom we will vote in the general elections. Our son also knows the names of the candidates for president but I don't think he has made up his mind yet."

Gilbert D. Mead of 403 Beatrice Road, Pleasant Hill, answered by stating: "I've made up my mind and I believe my wife will vote as I do. I've known for whom I would like to vote since back in '52 and I've never been undecided since the last election."

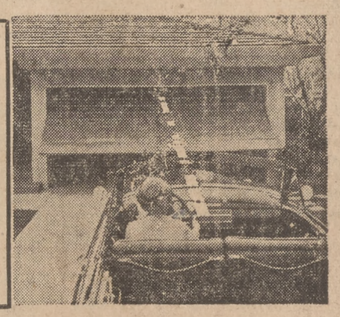

Asked if any of the Mead children had decided on a candidate, he answered: "Our oldest is four so I don't think that he will make a decision this year."

Under The Sun

By Herman Silverman

Recommendation: Vote No

The editorial on this page presents The Sun's reasons for opposing the formation of an Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District. This decision was made only after thorough study and discussion.

The Sun was the first to question the feasibility of our inclusion in the district some months ago. Since then we have printed many words both pro and con. Last week this entire column was devoted to arguments in favor of the district, written by Bob Kahn.

I have had lunch and discussed the proposal with Sherwood Swan, Oakland civic leader, businessman and a founder of this transit idea. Other staff members and I have talked with Robert Nisbet, Oakland deputy city attorney and a spokesman for the proposal. We have discussed it with the "opposition" — officials of the Commuters Association, Contra Costa city and county officials.

I certainly think the basic idea is good — a transit district which can take over or replace Key System if and when necessary. This is the prime reason why Oakland and other East Bay cities proposed the plan and went to the Legislature to get enabling legislation. Thus, the district was designed primarily for one purpose — and with good reason.

If Central Contra Costa County votes a strong "no," we still will not harm the original purpose. As I understand the deal, those areas that vote no will simply be excluded.

Well, on the other hand

Proponents talk of the district doing much more. They warn that if Greyhound goes out of the commute business, we will be in trouble. They predict the need for feeder systems and local lines throughout our area. They point out that although the Bay Area Rapid Transit Plan is years and years away, their district would tie in beautifully with it.

These are strong arguments and have much merit. But the proposed district is being established to do one job for East Bay cities and our area certainly was not considered when the plans were drafted.

For more discussion, read the editorial. We recommend a no vote.

Another aspirin please

Another headache on the November 6 ballot is Proposition 4. I have just finished reading a Commonwealth Club report, as well as a stack of literature on my desk from both sides. I watch the TV commercials and read the ads.

I mentioned in a past column that a friend of mine is a law professor at Cal and he too is confused by the proposal.

But at last some light is coming through. Trumpets! I'm going to vote NO on Proposition 4.

The basic purpose of the proposal is good — conservation of oil and gas in California. The opponents do not argue this point. Well, I am not going to delve into the pros and cons, which are complicated and numerous. But I agree with Attorney General Pat Brown and others that this difficult subject should not be a constitutional act, which can be changed only by another constitutional ammendment. With certain minor exceptions, the act expressely provides it cannot be modified by the Legislature.

Send it to Sacramento

This is a matter for the Legislature. We have existing laws on conservation and they are good. Probably they should be improved — but by the Legislature, which can make additional changes in the future. Oklahoma's law on unitization and well spacing has been amended many times.

That is the reason I am going to vote NO on 4.

That decision is made, and what a relief! Now I'm going home to study the other 18 state propositions.

QUARRY PROCEDURES

Dear Editor:

May we point out the inadequacies in the Redwood Canyon Quarry procedures?

1. The Planning Commission, to which the application was referred, did not make an adequate study.

2. The supervisors' hearing on June 19 was sandwiched into an overcrowded agenda. Persons protesting the permit were treated with boredom and told curtly not to repeat points and to "make it short."

3. The board has refused repeated requests to re-open the hearing, though the opposition had not been given an opportunity to complete its objections.

4. The board acts now as though the permit has been granted and will listen only to the public's suggestions for restriction. But no decision to grant the permit has been made at a public meeting.

5. Whether or not the board's private meeting violates the Brown "Star Chamber" Act, it has kept the public from knowing what the board has considered, and why, in regard to the quarry.

6. The public has had practically no opportunity to discuss any objections with (1) the Planning Commission, ((2) The Board of Supervisors, or (3) the recent Restrictions Committee. There should be an opportunity for more discussion before a decision is made, not only on restrictions but on the basic question whether the quarry should be allowed.

A new hearing is in order. The detailed plans of Mr. McCosker for the quarry operations have just been turned in to the county. The Restrictions Committee has just completed its list of recommended restrictions.

The State Park Division has said it would make a study of the area as soon as the Shepherd Canyon Freeway route is decided, which should be in the next month or six weeks.

Only after that, and in an unhurried and impartial atmosphere, can a proper kind of hearing be conducted on this quarry application, which is of county and even state-wide concern, since it involves a possible future state park area.

STEALING

Dear Editor:

I am pleading as a disgusted, irate and puzzled parent to know the hidden reason of why our children's bicycles are stolen.

I am one of five parents who have reported a bike stolen from our property. Some of the bikes have been found stripped of all accessories and the remainder of the bike thrown in Grayson Creek. Still another bike was stolen, in board daylight, witnessed by shoppers in Gregory Village.

Such boldness on the part of children has reached a point where something must be done.

Are the children selling these parts from the bikes? If so, to whom? What can be done to stop this in our community?

New Programs to Remedy Mental Ills are Planned

The Central Contra Costa Mental Health Association is the only citizens group devoted exclusively to the fight against mental illness and to the advancement of mental health, say members.

In this area the association is working now to increase its educational services.

"What is good mental health and why should it concern you? We want everyone to know the answers and in this way help to remove the shadows from mental illness, said Mrs. Lloyd Rickard, president.

Mental health pamphlets are available at the local Mental Health office at 1924 Walnut Avenue or by telephoning YE 5-1015.

Field trips to Napa State Hospital, Agnew State Hospital, School for the Mentally Retarded, Juvenile Hall and to many other areas directly associated with better mental health are being planned.

Members of the association receive a monthly newsletter which keeps them informed on all activities offered.

IN AN AREA such as ours, there are many small groups interested in knowing more of their community life, an active films and speakers bureau is vital to an educational program. They are available to persons calling the office.

Legislation for the mentally ill in California is a study project for the association.

On October 10, a State Senate Interim Committee on the Treatment of Mental Illness met in Martinez.

In California there are 47,000 persons in state mental hospitals and there will be an estimated 2500 new patients each year in this state.

In Central Contra Costa our only public facility is County Hospital in Martinez. This offers a temporary facility with a usual stay of from 5-10 days, while the patient is under observation.

The Mental Health Association prepared a statement of mental health problems for this committee.

The Community Chest supports the educational program, and future expansion of community clinical services.

STATE LEGISLATION affecting the activities of the Central Contra Costa Mental Health Association is studied by Mrs. William Reich, secretary, E. Walton Kirk of Walnut Creek, a psychologist, and Mrs. Lloyd Richard, president of the group.

Hospital Branches Prepare Original Hats for 'Ball'

The Garden Room of Berkeley's Hotel Claremont will be transformed into a fanciful world of make-believe on Saturday evening, October 27, when the Branches of Children's Hospital of the East Bay give their "Fairyland Fantasy" Floral Headdress Ball as a benefit for the hospital.

Each Branch will represent a different fairy tale or nursery rhyme, which they will execute in their elaborate floral headdresses and table arrangements.

"The Branches are proud of the tradition of beauty that makes this lovely ball an outstanding event," says Mrs. Wm. Harold Oliver, general chairman of the Branches.

"We think this year's theme, 'Fairyland Fantasy' will give guests a wide scope for their imaginations when planning their headdresses."

The traditional party usually gets under way about 9 p.m., but guests come as early as 7:30 p.m. to view the many tables which will be transformed into the glittering loveliness of the mystic world of make-believe. Ribbons will be on prize-winning tables at this time.

Following dinner, wearers of the most outstanding toppers will parade before a panel of judges headed by William Harold Oliver, a member of the hospital's Board of Directors, and awards will be presented to the wearers of the most original and beautiful headdresses.

Mrs. L. L. Nicolson Heads New Position

Mrs. F. P. Lonergan of Danville, president of the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary, at the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors, announced that the Grant B. Schley Foundation had underwritten the salary and expenses for a full time Service Director for a period of one year.

The Board of Directors of the Auxiliary, by unanimous motion, chose Mrs. L. L. Nicolson as Service Director. Mrs. Nicolson stated she was willing to serve full time in that capacity.

AMONG THOSE present at the Board of Directors Meeting were Mrs. Verda Claunch, representing the County Probation Committee; County Probation Officer John Davis; Don Morrison, superintendent, Juvenile Hall; Mrs. Marge Rae, Mrs. T. J. Keremitsis, Walnut Creek; Mrs. Betty Wagner, Pleasant Hill and Mrs. Alice Owsley, assistant superintendent, Juvenile Hall.

The Foundation made these funds available because they felt the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary provided a valuable supplement to the County's service to children in trouble. The Foundation recognizing the need of a full time coordinator, underwrote the expenses of the position for one year.

Both Mrs. Lonergan and Davis hailed the underwriting of the position by the Foundation as a major step in furthering Juvenile Hall Auxiliary activities.

MRS. LONERGAN stated: "The activities of the Auxiliary in providing and supplementing services to children in trouble has grown tremendously in the past year. Lots needs to be done but the response of the people of the County to the Auxiliary has been encouraging. Now, with a full time person to coordinate Auxiliary activities, we are looking forward to even fuller community participation in the next year. It is important that the offers of providing funds or services be coordinated with the County so that they may be put to the best possible use for the benefit of the children concerned."

Among some of the accomplishments of the Auxiliary during the past year has been the furnishing of individual Christmas gifts to children at the Juvenile Hall and in foster placement; the purchase of furnishings for the children's living areas at Juvenile Hall, the supplementing of Juvenile Hall program by numerous Auxiliary Committee, including the following activities: Dramatics, grooming, music, religious service, folk dancing, furnishing, gardening, flower arrangements, holiday and birthday, library, mending, sewing, shelter crafts, furnishing services and spectator activities.

Mrs. Lonergan and Davis said the Auxiliary is very fortunate in having Mrs. L. L. Nicolson available for the position of Service Director. Mrs. Nicolson is one of the founders of the Auxiliary, and did an outstanding job as Service Director last year as a volunteer, said Davis.

Part Time Students Have Specially Skilled Teachers

Seventy per cent of the instructors in the classes for part-time students at East Contra Costa Junior College have been drawn from the community for their special knowledge or skills, according to Dr. George W. Madison, dean of instruction.

Of the 124 teaching part-time students' classes, only 30 are members of the regular junior college faculty.

Five others are local high school teachers. The rest, a total of 88, are fully employed specialists of one kind or another. Among them are professional persons, technicians, successful business men and women, highly-trained industrial personnel, and others.

THEIR DIVERSITY, Madison said, has permitted the college to expand the program for part-time students in many directions and along highly practical, often technical lines.

The result, he said, has been surprisingly heavy enrollments as more and more groups find specific information or background they are seeking, or the means of improving their own skills.

At present between 2350 and 2400 persons are enrolled as junior college part-time students. This compares with 1283 full-time students enrolled in the day.

Madison mentioned several examples of unusual qualifications among the part-time staff. One man, he said, a graduate of the University of California School of Engineering, sells supervisorial services to big industries in the day and teaches isometric drawing and mathematics at night.

ANOTHER MAN is a top analyst for Kaiser Steel Corporation and an authority on the subject he teaches at the junior college one night a week — systems and procedures.

A regional salesman for a national pharmaceutical house teaches a salesmanship class. Cost estimation is taught by a chief estimator for a large construction corporation. A partner of an old established insurance firm of the country is one of those who instructs men and women who are preparing for state examinations in insurance.

In the field of real estate, top-flight real estate brokers not only teach those who are studying for state examinations, but also those who have already passed the tests and who want additional training in selling, appraisal and other phases of the field.

IN MORE TECHNICAL classes an oil company supervisor teaches petroleum technology. One of his associates, a former instructor in the University of California Extension program, has the industrial instrumentation class. The successful operator of a television business is one of the electronics instructors at night.

There are many others, Madison said, each with particular knowledge or practical experience. From them come the fire-training teachers, those who teach basic police officer training, merchandising, selling, investments, industrial psychology, to mention a few. As a rule, they teach one night a week for three hours.

"They enrich the program," Madison said, "and they attract a high caliber of student, one who really wants to learn. We are very proud," he added, "of the high percentage of their students who are working seriously toward the Associate in Arts degree."

Authors Review Their Works for Tanager Unit

'Midst a beautiful background of gaily blooming shrubs and plants, members of the Tanager Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center gathered recently at Orchard Nursery for an afternoon of tea and literature.

The entire facilities of Orchard Nursery were donated for the event by co-owners, Jack Schneider and Stewart Wade.

Highlight of the affair was the presence of four authors who have recently published books. Each author was called upon to discuss and analyze his particular offering.

Authors who took part were: Reese Wolfe, "When the Credit's Low, Order Champagne"; Lenore Offord, "Enchanted August"; John Jennings, "Wind, in His Fists"; and Dale Fife, "Weddings in the Family."

Ken Carnahan, well-known literary critic and teacher, acted as moderator.

Hospital to Spend Today 'In France'

Today is "A Day in Old France" for holiday shoppers as the Herrick Hospital Guild holds its annual Holiday Fair — a once-a-year event which members of the hospital auxiliary spend 12 months preparing.

A benefit for the Herrick Hospital Part-Pay Clinic, the all-day affair will be held in the Salem Room of the Hotel Claremont from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. A gay Parisian atmosphere and many brightly decorated booths will be the background for the hundreds of beautiful gifts on sale.

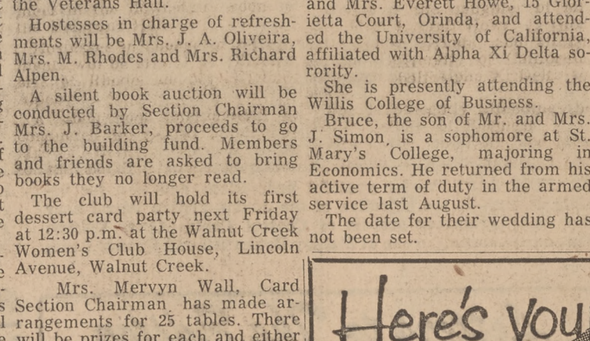

There is no admission charge, and the public is invited to shop for holiday decorations, Christmas gifts, toys, home-cooked goodies and a wealth of unusual items.

Among those participating in the event are members of the Arch of Sapphires, most of whom are local residents. Helping to make the affair a success are Mesdames:

John Bouleward, Karl Ehrlich, Robert Johnson, Hyzer Jones, Donald Minkler, Fred E. Patching, W. Ray Poindexter, Donald Walker and Paul G. Winquist, all of Orinda; and Kendall Caldwell, Herbert C. Enos, Donald Kennedy, and Sam Smith of Lafayette.

A children's play area, including a merry-go-round, will be supervised by the Guild volunteers so that mothers may shop. A portion of the Salem Room will be transformed into a sidewalk cafe in the continental manner.

'Head for the Hills' Was Birthday Cry

Tilden Park was the scene last week of Johnny Harbell's eighth grade birthday party.

He and 10 of his young friends, armed with roasting sticks and weenies, headed for the Berkeley hills along with his brothers Steven, 6, and Geoffrey, 3. They cooked, consumed and cavorted until the fog rolled in, when all hands decided Orinda was the place to finish the festivities.

The date for their wedding has not been set.

Dreamers to Have 'Holiday' At Fashion Show Thursday

Members and guests of the Women's Club of the Santa Maria Church in Lafayette will surely have a "Dreamers' Holiday" next Thursday as the latest in fall finery and furs are paraded before then at 1 p.m. in the Church Hall.

As club members pass before the assemblage modelling fashions from Hill'n Dale of Lafayette and furs from David Benioff of San Francisco, lines and styles of the garbs will be traced and analyzed by commentator Mary Gordon of TWA.

In charge of making this "Dreamers' Holiday" a success are co-chairmen Mrs. George Wheeler and Mrs. Elizabeth Gould.

A "holiday" of this sort, of course, must have a "dreamy" atmosphere, and this will be supplied to a great extent by decorations chairman Mrs. LeMartin Spittler.

The following Mesdames will be clad in the new fashions as they model before the gathering:

Mrs. Pat LeMire has charge of the refreshments which will be served.

Tickets, whose proceeds will go toward building a new school at the church, may be obtained by phoning Mrs. Margaret Wheeler, CL 4-3186.

Donations are $2.

Mrs. Corinne Buck, general chairman, gave her report and announced her committees:

Tony Biggs Married to Los Altos Girl; Marines Beckon

Honeymooning in Arizona before his return to duty as a lieutenant in the U.S. Marines, Camp Pendleton, is Anthony (Tony) Harcourt Biggs of Walnut Creek, and his Los Altos bride.

She is the former Lynn Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chalmers Campbell, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at the University of California where she and her new husband kept company.

Mr. Biggs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Biggs of Danville Highway, Walnut Creek. He was president of Sigma Nu fraternity at the university.

THE WEDDING was held at St. Nicholas Catholic Church in Los Altos, and a reception at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Lawson of Menlo Park.

Many college friends attended both.

Maid of honor was Miss Judith Perrin, and attendants were Misses Roberta Rose, Nancy Ross, Shirley Scott and Barbara Best, and Mrs. Michael Biggs.

Michael H. Biggs was his brother's best man. Ushers were Timothy Biggs, another brother, Joseph Campbell Jr., Donald Cvietusa, William Jensen and Roderick Iversen.

DURING the ceremony, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin made on princess lines with a high Sabrina neckline with Alencon lace Empire bodice.

The couple will live at Oceanside in San Diego County, while Lt. Biggs completes a tour of duty with the Marine Corps Reserve.

Newlyweds Settle in W.C. Following Orinda Nuptials

Santa Maria Catholic Church, Orinda, provided the setting for September 23 afternoon wedding of Carole Judith Petersen of Concord and Edward Leroy Lucas, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lucas of 6 North Lane, Orinda.

The Rev. David Harrington officiated, and the buffet dinner reception was held, following the ceremony, at the Ides Lodge in Walnut Creek.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Petersen, 1885 Esperanza Drive, Concord, was escorted to the altar by her father.

She had chosen a wedding gown of net and chantilly lace, floor length and extending into a chapel train. The bodice was form fitting, with a high scalloped neck and long lace sleeves.

The veil was of imported French illusion, and finger tip in length, held in place by a small net cap decorated with seed pearls. Carole carried a white orchid, surrounded by stephanotis.

Mrs. Nina Sims, Concord, was the honor attendant, wearing a dress of ballerina length ice pink satin, and carrying deep pink orchids in a cascade arrangement.

Miss Beverly Abbie, Walnut Creek, and Miss Sandra Burgess, Concord, were Carole's bridal attendants, wearing gowns similar to the honor attendant's and carrying light pink orchids in cascade arrangements. Miss Janet Lucas, Edward's only sister, acted as junior bridesmaid.

Vernon Lucas of Lafayette, Edward's cousin, was best man, wearing a blue-gray dinner jacket as did the ushers, Paul Smith, Lafayette, Jack Pillsbury and Peter Fisher, Walnut Creek.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Petersen chose a ballerina length gown of autumn brown lace over light pink taffeta. She wore pink accessories and pinned on a pink orchid.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Lucas was attired in a ballerina length gown of aqua taffeta with which she chose aqua accessories and wore a pink orchid.

Following the dinner, the newlyweds left for Rylee's Resort, where they spent a week. They are now at home, to their friends, at Wooten Drive, Walnut Creek.

AAUW Fund Aids Study Overseas

One of the unique projects of the American Association of University Women is a fellowhip fund which offers financial assistance to American and foreign women doing graduate study either in the United States or abroad.

Mrs. Oscar D. Anderson, fellowship chairman for the Walnut Creek Branch, said "Never was there a greater need for intellectual leaders among women, and AAUW recognizes their need for advanced study.

"There is no way to measure the value of their work wherever they go. Every American woman who studies abroad and every foreign woman who works at an American university increases the understanding between our nation and her neighbors. The importance of the Fellowship Fund speaks for itself."

This week, the Walnut Creek Branch will begin a series of "Fun for Fellowship" card parties as its fund-raising projejct.

Students Find Skeletons More Than 2000 Years Old

By BILLIE POLLARD

East Contra Costa Junior College anthropology students have been doing some digging during the past several days and have unearthed human bones dating back at least 2000 years.

These are believed to be the earliest human bones ever discovered in this area, according to Professor Charles K. Sapper, whose students have been doing the digging in the Pleasant Hill area.

Four skeltons and a nest of seven skulls have been discovered, as well as miscellaneous artifacts (spearheads).

The discovery was mentioned Monday night by Miss Bozena Nemcova, instructor of an evening class in anthropology at the East Campus.

"THEY ARE BELIEVED to be from the 'Middle Horizon' — the period between 500 B.C. and 1 A.D.," Professor Sapper said yesterday.

"Earlier bones of man have been found in the Bay Area and elsewhere in the United States, but not in this general area."

Professor Sapper, who said he preferred not to disclose the exact location of the "find," reported that young children had found bones in an excavation at a building construction site. Concord police were notified. The police contacted East Contra Costa Junior College, in order to make sure that the bones were ancient.

SEVERAL OF SAPPER'S students proceeded to dig—and were still digging this week The four skeletons, the seven skulls and the artifacts rewarded their efforts.

"Last Friday I had two men from the University of California Archelogical Survey came out," Professor Sapper said. "They helped us date the site and the findings."

The bones and relics were described as not being from American Indians, but from the "Middle Horizon"—500 B.C. to 1 A.D.

Later—after the coroner has officially approved the bones—the skeltons and artifacts will be displayed at an open house at East Contra Costa Junior College, Sapper said.

Paint Methods Are Topic for Diablo Artists

"Contemporary Painting Techniques" will be demonstrated by painters of the Diablo Art Association at their monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Parish Hall of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1924 Walnut Avenue, Walnut Creek.

Art Watson, Pleasant Hill artist and art teacher, will exhibit examples of his use of mixed media. Edith Dinkin, Walnut Creek abstract painter, will display a section of her work, showing the changing phases.

Muriel White and Marguerite Requa of Martinez, award winners in Contra Costa art shows, have planned brief recounts of their painting methods.

Frank Kupper, college art student, will return to his home town to do a request demonstration of the reverse path from "doodling" back towards realism.

Irma Judson will outline the basis of her "magic realism," which technique may be seen in her current show at Jackson Furniture Co., in Walnut Creek.

"Transparency and Interpenetration" will be demonstrated by Betty Pleshe. Mrs. Pleshe has been teaching gouache technique locally and was an award winner in this year's Art Center Annual Show.

Speakers will be introduced by the Association's past president, Jessie Thomason.

This departure from our usual type of program is warranted by the wealth of information to be received directly from these fine experimenting artists, Mrs. Thomason said.

A coffee gallery will be held after the meeting. The public is invited.

Drive carefully — Save a life.

Scouts to See Junior College Game Tomorrow

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts of the Concord and Martinez areas have been invited to be non-paying spectators tomorrow night at the football game between the East Contra Costa Junior College Vikings and the San Jose Junior Varsity on the Mt. Diablo High School field in Concord. The game will start at 8 p.m.

Dick McInerney, president of the East Contra Costa Junior College Student Body, said today that letters are in the mail to Thomas McMorrow and Lee Russ, district chairmen respectively, of the Martinez and Concord Scout District, asking them to extend the school's invitation.

All the Scouts will have to do to be admitted free of charge, McInerney said, is to appear at the Galindo Street gate, and in uniform. They will be shown to the west bleachers where they will sit in a group.

McInerney added that adult Scouters will be welcome, provided they present their Scout cards at the Galindo gate.

This Party's for The Dogs-Pups Set to Howl

Champagne of Bryan Hill, a Welsh Corgi, is giving a party for five of her puppy friends from Daly City tomorrow morning from 10 a.m. to noon.

Chamie is part of the household of F. E. Bryan, 1063 Via Roble, Lafayette. Mrs. Bryan is what her son, Edward, calls "a dog lover" and has been raising Corgis for the past six years.

These small, foxy type dogs with the short tails have made many friends wherever they are found and are extremely adaptable and intelligent.

Red Beauty of Bryan Hill, the year old daughter of Champagne, was killed recently by accident. In memory of this beautiful and faithful Corgi friend Mrs. Bryan is entertaining Miss Margaret Downing's pups.

Both Miss Downing and the Youngs have Obedience-trained their dogs and have tables of trophys won by them in this field.

Dog-lovers, as well as the canines, are invited to the party.

Teacher Workshop Held at WC School

The human equation in teaching was recently explored at a guidance workshop for elementary teachers at the Walnut Creek School.

The theme, "Pointing the Way to Guidance in the Classrooms," was developed through section meetings, an address and displays of materials used in guidance.

Dr. Edson Caldwell, associate professor at Sacramento State College, spoke on "Gateways to Guidance in the Elementary School."

Oregon Senator Blasts GOP at $25 Demo Dinner

A charge that the record of the Eisenhower administration "is long on preachments and short on performance" has been leveled by Oregon's Senator Richard L. Neuberger.

Speaking before more than 1500 Democrats at a $25-a-plate dinner at El Nido in Lafayette last Saturday, Sen. Neuberger asked, "What is to be said of an administration which talks of mankind, yet which sets itself against a system of social security benefits to keep alive the disabled worker who can work no more?

"What is to be said of a national leadership which constantly invokes for itself the highest ethics and the eternal verities — yet which in two consecutive election campaigns has put to use the harshest and most savage attacks upon the integrity and patriotism of devoted Americans?" he continued.

"What we do is a far sterner and more realistic test than what we say," Sen. Neuberger declared.

Senator Neuberger became the first Democrat to be sent to the Senate from Oregon in 40 years when he defeated a Republican incumbent in 1954.

His address was prefaced by short talks by State Senator George Miller Jr., Dr. H. R. "Bob" Quinney, Sixth District Congressional candidate; Assemblyman S. C. Masterson of the Eleventh District and Russell Koch, candidate for Assembly, Tenth District.

The dinner was sponsored by the Democratic Central Committee of Contra Costa County, as a fund raising event for the United Democratic Fund.

Richard Haber, Kensington, is chairman of the Central Committee, and William McKee, Lafayette, is administrative secretary and acted as dinner chairman.

Among local residents who attended the dinner to hear Senator Neuberger were Messrs. and Mesdames:

James Benney, Charles Hanks, Ralph Reid, Frank Newman and Leonard Roth, of Orinda; Anthony Stadleman, Paul Stumpf and William McKee, of Lafayette; Tom Kendall, Douglas Paige and Robert Condon, Walnut Creek; Dave Comstock, Alamo; and Russell Koch, Pleasant Hill.

List of Political Books Available At County Library

To help voters become informed on the candidates and the issues of the November 6 election, the staff of the Contra Costa County Library has issued a selected reading list.

Individuals and organizations may obtain free copies at county library headquarters, 143 Hall of Records or any 31 community libraries in the county library system.

The books listed are in the county library collection which rotates among the libraries and may be requested through any local library.

Among the books on the candidates are "Eisenhower, The President", by Merlo J. Pusep, an informative study of the man and his achievements; "Affairs of State" by Richard Rovere, the President and the men who surround him.

Also "My Brother Adlai" by Elizabeth Stevenson Ives, who opens the family album with sisterly affection and many an anecdote; "What I Think" by Adlai E. Stevenson, selected selected speeches and articles; "Through These Men" by John Mason Brown, a revealing treatment of politics through vignettes of significant men.

"This is Nixon" by James Keough, an ardent admirer's campaign profile; "The Kefauver Story" by Jack Anderson and Frederick G. Blumenthal, a campaign biography of the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

Political parties are discussed in: "Politics in America", a noncritical and intelligible explanation of the American political system, by Denis W. Brogan; "The Fabulous Democrats," a journalistic and pictorial history of the party by David L. Cohn; "The Republicans: a History of their Party" by Malcolm Moos who turns a searchlight on the party past and present; and other volumes both new and old.

Prize Catches to Win Prizes in Nielsen 'Derby'

A departure from normal campaign methods will take place Sunday when the campaign committee for Mel Nielsen, candidate for supervisor, will conduct the Mel Nielsen Bass Derby.

Sportsmen from the entire Bay Area will weigh in their prize catches at Browrelio's Pier in Crockett any time between midnight Saturday and 5 p.m. Sunday, while the Derby is in progress.

Entry in the Derby is free, and fish may be brought in either from the Bay or river, from either private or chartered boats.

Some 50 prizes, all designed to delight the fisherman, will be awarded to the sportsmen who bring in the big ones that "didn't get away."

JayCees Erect Crusade 'Meter'

Orinda's new Junior Chamber of Commerce accomplished its first community project last week by erecting a "thermometer" at the Crossroads for Diablo Valley's United Crusade.

The thermometer read 24 per cent of quota even before the residential drive began last Monday, according to Mrs. Duncan C. Pell Jr., Area Director for Central Contra Costa County.

Eric Nielsen, vice-president of the local JayCees and builder of the Crusade display, announced that this is only the first of many community services which the new Junior Chamber will bring to Orinda.

President Jack Martin urges all men of Orinda between 21 and 35 who are interested in improvement and development of the community to visit the next JayCee meeting Tuesday at The Willow Inn, 7:45 p.m.

November 10 will be the last opportunity to become a Charter Member.

UN Agencies To be Explained

The general meeting of the Orinda branch of the American Association of University Women next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Glorietta School, will be devoted to a celebration of the United Nations birthday.

David Robertson has been invited to talk on the subject of the specialized agencies of the UN. He is president of the North American Association for the UN and vice-president of the Northern California Council of the AA UN.

Mrs. Louis Lazaroff, international relations chairman, has planned the program and Mrs. John Maga will be head of the hostess committee.

BRAKES NEED BREAKING IN

The brakes on a new car or on a car that has been fitted with new brake shoes or linings should be broken in correctly. This is done by applying the brakes moderately for several days until they are nicely burnished. Severe application of the brakes may permanently injure new linings and may score brake drums.

Drive carefully — Save a life.

Christian Science

Mankind's need for spiritual growth and progress will be stressed at services this Sunday in Churches of Christ, Scientist, at 22 Orinda Highway, Orinda, and 1347 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death."

Scriptural passages will include the following from Psalms (37:37):

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

Among the selections to be read from Science and Health is the following (291:12-13): "Universal salvation rests on progression and probation, and is unattainable without them."

The Golden Text is from John (5:25): "The hour is coming,, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live."

County Property Tax Raise is Above Average

Property taxes in Contra Costa County increased 11.9 per cent while the state-wide average was only 5 per cent between 1955 and 1956, the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association announced today.

This increase does not include revenue from other sources than the property tax which is even greater than the property tax increase. The total property tax increase for all units of local government in Contra Costa County was from $35,094,180 to $39,934,375.

School districts were the unit of government showing the greatest tax increase with a jump from $15,827,263 to $18,733,019.

The county government was the second with an increase from $11,443,058 to $12,429,036 while special districts increased from $3,989,183 to $4,689.382.

The municipalities showed the smallest increase—$3,834,676 to $4,082,938—of any of the levels of local government.

During this same period the population of Contra Costa County was only about 2 per cent and the Consumer Price Index (U.S.) only about ¼ of 1 per cent.

Contractors Group Holds Dinner Meeting

Frederick C. Kracke of Walnut Creek, executive vice president of the General Contractors Association of Contra Costa County, spoke at an association dinner meeting in the El Nido Restaurant yesterday.

Kracke reviewed the activities of the National Association of Home Builders board of directors meeting held in Boston, Massachusetts, October 5-10.

While in Boston, Kracke discussed the mortgage finance situation with the heads of the NAHB and with Randolph Burgess, under-secretary of the Treasury, and Al Cole, commissioner of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

According to Association President Harold Parker, the "tight money market" is having a serious effect upon the nation's home builders due to the lack of funds available for mortgages.

Kracke stated that the home building industry is being discriminated against in this competitive money market due to the restrictions on the amount of interest which may be charged under the FHA and VA programs.

Parker said, "Our membership is acutely concerned with the money market outlook and whereas we are cognizant of the necessity of maintaining a sound dollar it is our contention that something must be done to aid the mortgage market to assure a sound economy."

Why put up with ice-box rooms another day—when a modern, automatic electric heater can chase the chill away for good! You're the boss with electric heating: you select the exact warmth you want, never waste heat. It's clean, quick, draft-free, too—easy and comparatively inexpensive to install. If you have rooms that leave you cold (or even close to freezing!), make the most of P. G. and E.'s low rates. Ask any experienced, qualified electrical contractor to survey your home. Without obligation, he'll tell you the moderate cost of installing a well-engineered electric heating plan.

ATTENTION VETERANS . . . You may now allow a buyer to assume your "G.I." loan and also the liability to pay same. Congress recently adopted a bill that will call for the buyer to quality "credit-wise" before they, the Veterans Administration, will approve such an assumption.

The LONG SHORT of it seems to be that if you have a good buyer the VA will probably approve same, and if you have a weak buyer, you can still sell, without a Credit check, however you the "PRIME BORROWING BUYER" will still be resposible for the payment of the loan just as it has been in the past. Questions on this item may be directed to the Regional Office of the Veterans Administration at No. 49 4th Street, San Francisco.

BIG PARK PURCHASE IN THE MAKING . . . Away out in Briones Valley, probably one of the last "primitive" areas in the north part of Contra Costa County . . . 1400 acres may be set aside for picnic areas and for playgrounds and parks . . . figuring the future growth . . . this is a must! How many of us look for a quiet spot on Sunday . . . a place to take the kids for a romp in the hills and the woods.

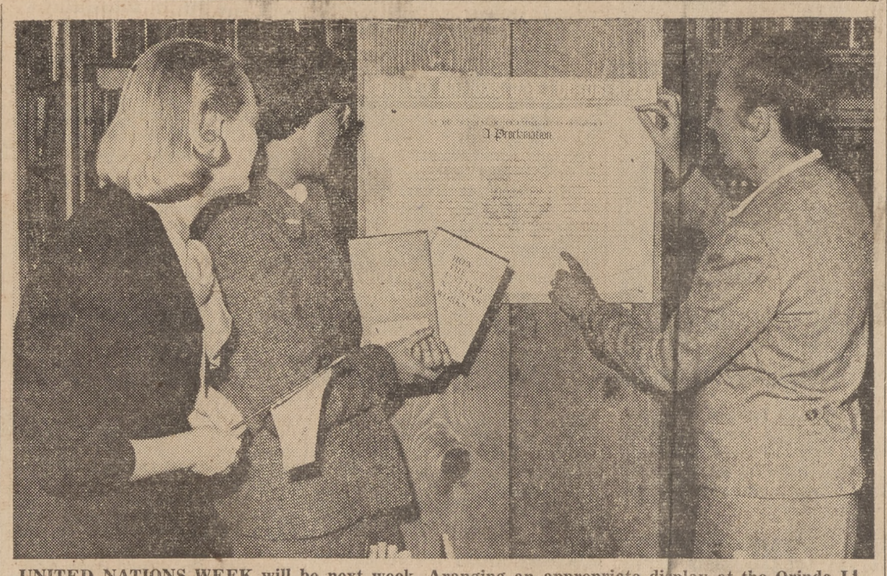

East Bay Municipal Utility District will sell this 1400 acre chunk to C.C. County for $600,000 — not a bad price according to a couple of appraisals . . . The County of Contra Costa have offered a clean $500,000 for the hunk . . . payable over a period of years . . . I HOPE THEY COME TO TERMS SOON . . This sounds like a good deal

THE SUPER SALESMAN OF THE REAL ESTATE BUSINESS . . . is still the M-ultiple L-isting S-ervice about which you heard all the facts and history during this and the past weeks. Proof positive . . . your best bet in selling or buying a house or a lot in Contra Costa County is "MLS" a service you may enjoy from any REALTOR member of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board . . . Hats off! to MLS's 10th anniversary!

SPECULATORS ATTENTION . . . just as soon as the State of California makes a final decision on the route of the Shepherd Canyon Freeway and access roads . . . Bollinger Canyon, Burton Station and Moraga will see some intensified activity on the part of land jugglers. The future lies in the hands of a few developers that will stake their claims early . . . The HOTTEST SPOT IN CALIFORNIA, BAR NONE!!!

BIG PROJECT OF THE MONTH . . . GENERAL ELECTRIC & their news release about a huge electronics plant near San Ramon have again started the valley fires . . . If this thing really goes . . . the Bishop Ranch Development will again show very large on the Real Estate horizon. All the members of the R.E. industry have their eyes PEELED on the CROW Canyon area . . . and I don't blame them, DO YOU?

SAN FRANCISCO INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT . . . spending $30,000,000 on airport facilities . . . chicken feed . . . Contra Costa County is investing a cool, very cool $300,000 — for a new terminal building, another step in the right direction . . . Dollar for dollar we have them outnumbered . . . watch Buchanan Field! and I might add keep your eye on "little" PACHECO . . . college town, golf course, new business, new highways, Benecia Bridge, Vet's Hospital . . . watch Pacheco closely.

High School Drivers to Enter 'Run'

The official course for the Contra Costa Safety-Economy Run, announced today by the California State Automobile Association, will be an exacting test of the driving abilities of student contestants.

Approximately one hundred entrants will pilot their cars October 27, through city traffic, over county roads, and broad freeways, encountering virtually every traffic, situation that modern motoring presents.

The four high schools participating in the event are Acalanes, Las Lomas, Pleasant Hill and San Roman.

The student contestants will start at one-minute intervals from two start-finish points: Mobilgas service stations in Pleasant Hill and Walnut Creek. The course makes a loop through Danville, Dublin, Brentwood, Antioch and Pittsburg.

The 78.7-mile course was selected and logged by the county Sheriff's office, California Highway Patrol, the General Petroleum Corporation and the CSAA.

Each student who drives in the Run will be accompanied by an adult observer who will "grade" him on his driving.

The entrants will be judged on their observance of all safety rules and practices as well as for their driving skill.

Sheriff Harry A. Brown, coordinator, announced that the following service clubs will sponsor the event and provide the obsevers: Lafayette Rotary Club, Optimists Club of Walnut Creek, and the Contra Costa County Association of Insurance Agents. Other sponsoring organizations will be announced later.

Right You Are Is New Play

"A surprising combination of action and comedy unfolds an exciting dramatic expression by this acknowledged master at developing tension on the stage," say producers.

Tickets at $1.75 for Friday and Saturday evening at 8:30 are on sale at Sherman Clay, City of Paris and the Playhouse. Call PRospect 5-4426 for reservations.

Dons Battle Pitt in Titanic for Loop Lead

Las Lomas Hopes Also High for Diablo Contest

The "biggie" in grid play tonight appears to be the game set for Pittsburg High's stadium, which will be the battle arena for the Pirates and the Acalanes Dons.

Pitt. Acalanes and Las Lomas are all undefeated in league play to date. The team dropping the decision tonight will be behind the 8-ball in the hotly-contested prep race.

The Dons, heavy up front and with a hard-running set of speedy backs, figure to have a good chance of upsetting Pittsburg's apple cart.

Don coaches Jean Ridley and Bob Stevens have brought their club along slowly and soundly and look to have their boys in shape for this big one after the Dons literally ran the Diablo Red Devils into the ground last week.

As usual, Tony Knap's Pittsburg Pirates are the team to beat for the grid crown. As defending champs, they haven't lost a league or practice game as yet and seem to get stronger each week.

The Dons will have to overcome tradition and terrific desire on the part of Pitt if they are to nab the victory. It's the kind of game that figures to draw between seven and 10 thousand paid customers.

In another "goodie," the Las Lomas Knights make their bid to stay in the undefeated class when they tackle the Diablo Devils at Concord. Coach DeKlotz's crew was an early season darkhorse contender.

Their play to date, despite injuries to key players, has proven the dopesters weren't such dopes.

Duane Brown will see some action tonight after having been out with an injury since the early practice season. Brown, a halfback, was the league's top scorer last year.

Ironically, he may have difficulty getting back into the starting lineup as his replacements have been slightly on the spectacular side.

This is exemplified by the five-touchdown performance of Pete Ostrom last week versus Pleasant Hill.

Jim Symington, the regular quarterback last season, returns after being on the sidelines for several weeks with an arm injury.

Like Brown, he may find his way back to regular duty a rough one as Don Crowley and Terry Yeager have turned in top performances during his absence.

The Diablo Devils, battered two weeks ago by Pitt and manhandled by the Don eleven last week, have a bleak outlook as they face the ready and willing Knights.

The Pleasant Hill Rams round out the schedule, still seeking their first league win as they travel to Antioch.

Truth of the matter is the Rams appear to have but a slim chance of hitting the win column, as Brooks Golden's Antioch Panthers seem to have found themselves.

They trounced Pacifica, 31-14, last Friday night and could be on their way to becoming a much more formidable aggregation than they have been to date.

The game is at Antioch, and the Rams' chances, like the Panthers' lights, are dim.

Pacifica draws the bye in varsity play, but will play Miramonte in Junior Varsity competion. The Matadors have as yet to win, but have played far better ball than the win-loss column would indicate.

Los of players has handicapped the willing Matadors, but if and when they get all their players together on the field they are bound to cause trouble.

That could happen this afternoon.

Dons Smash Devils; Retain Game Trophy

The Acalanes Dons' grid machine sputtered in the opening play of last Friday night's game but then shifted into high gear to register a one-sided 27-6 win over the Red Devils of Concord.

In clipping the tails and shearing the horns of the not-too-evil Devils, the Dons retained possession of the game's perpetual trophy and stayed in a tie for the loop lead while suffering the Devils their second loss.

THE DIABLO ROOTING section had its big moment early when on the opening kickoff Devil halfback Gary Casey bobbled the ball off the toe of Stewart Busby, then picked it up and found a hole in the middle of the onrushing Don wall.

The speedy back cut to his right and went all the way, covering 80 yards on the run to score standing up. The conversion attempt was blocked.

The Dons pulled themselves together rapidly, however, and after the ensuing kickoff drove downfield 66 yards in eight plays, with quarterback Rich Markstein going around left end for 11 yards and the score to culminate the march.

BUSBY SPLIT the uprights on the conversion to put Acalanes ahead, 7-6.

For the remainder of the half it was all Acalanes. The Dons scored twice more in the second quarter and stopped cold any offensive move the Devils could present.

The Dons' first score in the second period came when they went 61 yards in 14 plays. The touchdown came on a 13 yard pass from Markstein to Caldwell. Busby again converted.

Later in the period the Dons tallied again when Busby took a 17 yard pass from Markstein. The conversion attempt went wide and it was 20-6.

IN THE THIRD quarter the Devils drove deep into Don territory, reaching the five. But the Dons stiffened at this point and took over the ball on downs.

The final score came in the waning minutes of the game when Markstein heaved a long pass to flanker back Dave Bojarsky, who made a terrific catch between two Devil defenders, shook loose and scrambled to a score.

The play covered 62 yards. This time Busby made good the conversion to make it 27-6.

DON RESERVES took over and the Devils, with the clock running out, moved just beyond the midfield stripe. But the gun shattered any hopes they might have had.

Statistic-wise the Dons outdid the Devils, 223 yards to 54 in the rushing department. In the air it was again Acalanes, 146-41, and the Dons had nine first downs to the Devils' three.

The grand net total of yards gained showed the Dons with 369 to Diablo's 85.

Top ball carriers for Acalanes were fullback Stewart Busby with 136 yards in 14 carries, halfback Harold Edklund, who had 56 yards on six tries and quarterback Markstein with 41 yards on four carries.

Matadors Outgun Pitt but Drop 7-6 Heartbreaker

The Miramonte Matadors outgained and outgunned the Pittsburg Pirate Junior Varsity eleven last Friday afternoon, but when the final gun went off the scoreboard said Pitt, 7, Miramonte, 6.

Statistics showed Miramonte with 263 yards gained through the air and on the ground to Pitt's combined total of 178. In the first down department it was 17-14 in favor of the Orinda contingent.

BUT EVEN IN the face of these figures, the scorer was unyielding.

Miramonte was off to a flying start in the opening quarter when the team traveled 40 yards in six plays and reached the Pitt 10. But a fumble turned the ball over to the opposition at that point.

Pitt got on the scoreboard early in the second quarter when they went 80 yards on a sustained drive, aided by aerials of 27 and 10 yards.

The touchdown came on a run around left end for the final five yards to pay dirt.

ON THE CONVERSION the all important 7th point was registered when the Pitt fullback went up the middle.

In the same period, Miramonte came bouncing back when they took a punt on their own 35 and went to the 45. The next play gaind two. On second down quarterback Floyd Blaney hit flanker back Ron Brown with a 32 yard pass and Brown scooted the rest of the way for a 53 yard TD.

The conversion kick, which turned out to be the game's key play, was blocked. This proved fatal as neither team scored the rest of the way.

MIRAMONTE LOST several scoring chances, one of which was a 45 yard drive late in the second quarter which ended on the Pitt 15.

It was a seesaw battle in the third quarter, but in the final canto the Matadors moved deep into Pitt territory on a 35 yard march. An intercepted pass quelched this hope.

Soon after, the Matadors rambled for 55 yards to the Pirate 15, but the Pitt defense moved in at that point to throw Miramonte for successive losses.

It was a tough one to lose, but Coach Don Phillips of Miramonte expressed the feeling that the club displayed more polish than in any game to date, and that all around play was its season's best.

THIS WEEK the Miramonte club hosts Pacifica, and hopes are high as all hands are on deck and ready to go.

Next week's game, originally scheduled for Miramonte, has been shifted to Antioch, with kickoff time slated for 3:30 p.m.

Legion Honors Baseball Team

The members of the Lafayette Legion junior baseball team of 1956, were honored Wednesday night by American Legion Post 517 at a dinner at Veterans Memorial Building, Lafayette.

Post Commander Ed Rodman awarded each boy a gold baseball. A movie on baseball was shown.

The dinner was prepared by Al Hansen and Ralph Wertzburger.

This past season, under the coaching of Erwin Mattson, assisted by Mike Dolan, the team came up with a 5-win, 3-loss record. This was a tremendous improvement over 1955, when the lads won only one game in eight starts.

Boys receiving awards Wednesday night were:

Ostrom Sparks Knights' 48-6 Massacre of Rams

The Las Lomas Knights had a field day last Friday night when they posted their second league win by walloping the Pleasant Hill Rams, 48-6.

It was one of those nights, as Knight Coach George DeKlotz put it, when the Las Lomas eleven could do no wrong and the opposition could do nothing right.

The Knights scored in every quarter and kicked a field goal in the final canto to register the one-sided win.

Ace of the Las Lomas attack was Pete Ostrom, a swift 165 pound junior halfback who looked fine in scoring three TDs the previous week against Antioch. But he outdid himself with five six-pointers against the Rams.

Ostrom put the Knights in front to stay when he took a three yard pass from quarterback Don Crowley in the first quarter. Minutes later he roared over left guard on a crossbuck and scooted 51 yards for his . . . and the Knights' . . . second tally.

Crowley took to the air late in the initial quarter and an aerial to end Britt Williams brought the count to 20-0.

In the second period it was Ostrom versus the Rams — and he outscored them, two to one.

Pete's first touchdown this quarter came when he took a punt and rambled 91 yards to pay dirt. Soon after, his pet play over guard rewarded him with a clear path which he exploited into a 68 yard jaunt to the end zone.

The Rams' lone score came in the second period when diminutive halfback Tommy Larscheid took the pigskin over from six yards out. That ended the Rams' nigthmare temporarily and they trotted off for a brief reprieve with the score Las Lomas, 33 — Rams, 6.

The rest was shortlived for the Rams, however, as in the third period the name "Ostrom" again resounded from the loudspeaker as the Knight butted his way around end and outraced the Ram secondary for 73 yards and a score.

Ostrom was retired at this point, much to the relief of Pleasant Hill. But halfback John France tok over for the Knights and scooted 24 yards for another six in the same quarter.

The Knights' reserves battled it out the rest of the way, as the game had resolved into a "no contest" affair. Three more points were chalked up for Las Lomas in the final quarter when "Joe the Toe" Emmericks unwound his trusty right leg for a 15 yard field goal.

The gun went off, and it was music in the ears of the Pleasant Hill Rams.

Cross-Country Meet Results In 2 Don Wins

A three-way cross-country meet on the Mt. Diablo High course October 11 ended in varsity and junior varsity victories by Acalanes.

In the varsity competition the Don harriers were low with 28. The Diablo Devils and the San Ramon Wolves were tied with 53 each.

In the junior varsity Acalanes came through with 36, with San Ramon second with 40 and Diablo trailing with 50.

Marc Stephens of Diablo varsity ran the approximate 1.8 miles in 9:52. Not far behind was Dave Carlson of Acalanes, second in 10:03. Third was Arne Knudsen of San Ramon, 10:04.

Steve Ames of Acalanes won the junior varsity grind. Gordon Knapp of Diablo was second, and B. Delorenzo of Acalanes came in third.

School Districts Are Seeking Federal Funds

Half of Contra Costa County's 34 school districts have made application for federal funds in 1956-57 on the basis that federal activities have contributed to increased enrollment.

Public Law 874 makes federal funds available where the impact of federal installations, such as armed services camps and air fields, is reflected in higher school attendance. The same principle is extended to children with a parent in the armed forces not stationed locally or assigned to a federal ship.

County Superintendent B. O. Wilson said that 14 school districts in Contra Costa are entitled to receive a total of $822,109 under P.L. 874 for the school year 1955-56.

Richmond schools account for more than half of the amount estimaetd due Contra Costa County schools for last year — $450,287 for the elementary district and $116,694 for Richmond Union High School District.

Other districts which are making application for 874 funds in 1956-57 and the amounts it is estimated they will receive for 1955-56 are as follows: Danville Union, $10,562; Lafayette, $11,863; Martinez, $6,199; Orinda Union, none; Pinole-Hercules Union, $6,812; Rodeo, $6,658; San Pablo, $27,111; Sheldon, none; Vine Hill, no application; Walnut Creek, $13,317.

Acalaes Union High School District, $11,330; John Swett Union High School District, $4,939; San Ramon Valley Union High School District, none; Mt. Diablo Unified District, $141,247, and Pittsburg Unified, $15,090.

College Vikings Pounded, 41-0, By Orange Coast

East Contra Costa Junior College Vikings were pounded by Orange Coast College, 41-0, Saturday night at the Mt. Diablo High football field.

The Vikings held their opponents scoreless through the first quarter, but an 80 yard run by Halfback Bill Harrison into the Viking end zone loosed the tide.

It was 14-0 at the half and 27-0 at the third quarter.

A 22-yard pass by Bob Crockett to Bill Brown accounted for the other Orange Coast TD in the second quarter.

Harrison again broke loose for 54 yards around right end and a tally after the half. The left end received the bolt next, with Halfback Dave Tamura hustling 24 yards into the end zone.

A 23-yard run by Paul Lorentzen and a 28-yard amble by Chuck Yeyna put the lid on Viking hopes.

Diablo, Rams Vie for No. 1 Spot of JV's

The Mt. Diablo Devils' junior varsity appears to be the team to beat in junior varsity football, as it has toppled all opposition to date with comparative ease.

Last Friday the "Little Devils" dropped the Acalanes Dons 28-0 after leading 13-0 at the halfway mark.

Their chief opposition looks to be the Pleasant Hill Rams, who are also in the undefeated class. Last week they measured the Las Lomas Knights, 12-0.

In the other league contests Miramonte dropped a close one 7-6 to Pittsburg, while Antioch took Pacifica, 20-6.

Blind Fund Aid Tonight Sparks Grid Mid-Season

By ERWIN MATTSON

FOOTBALL FEVER is at a high pitch in the Diablo Valley Athletic League, as the schedule has reached the mid-season point, and it's a three-way race for title honors involving Acalanes, Las Lomas and Pittsburg.

The Dons face Pittsburg in the big one tonight at Pittsburg, and only an unlikely tie could keep one from falling into the defeated class

Chances are that between 8000 and 10,000 will be on hand for the game.

The event is also being sponsored by the Lafayette and Pittsburg Lions Clubs, with part of the receipts going toward the Blind Center.

If you are going, get a ticket from a Lion and help a wonderful cause while seeing what promises to be one of the season's best games. Tickets at the regular price of $1, can be obtained locally at Normand's Jewelers and Goddard's Lafayette Camera Shop, both in Lafayette, and from Bert Trulsson, Lafayette Lions president, at Acalanes High School.

Acalanes was jam-packed last Friday for the Diablo game, with people standing on the sidelines. It's to be hoped that more bleachers will be available in the near future. I know of lots of people who stay at home because of the seat situation. The area is growing, interest is growing and the need for facilities is evident any Friday night the weatherman gives the game a break.

LAS LOMAS has just added a 16-mm. camera to its acquisitions, and plans to start taking pictures of its games.

Ed Lahey will be the man behind the camera. Rest assured that the Las Lomas coaching staff will make good use of the films, which are easily one of the best, if not the best, coaching aid a coach can have. There is no guessing with films—it's there in black and white.

The lights at Las Lomas are expected to be on their way "up" any day now. It will be nip and tuck if they are to be ready for the season's final with Acalanes. It would be nice if the season's final between the two arch rivals could be for the championship!

Coaches met at Pacifica Monday night, and one of the main items of business was planning schedules for next year.

It all worked out with comparative ease except for football. The problem is complicated, as Pacifica, Pleasant Hill and Mt. Diablo all use the same field.

The committee is still trying to work out a satisfactory schedule.

Meeting is Held

The Concord home of Mrs. John Harper was the setting for a meeting of the Women's Architectural League of the East Bay, held yesterday. Dessert was served at a combined business meeting and social get-together.

Replacements Brighten Gael Cage Prospects

Jim Weaver, beginning his second year as St. Mary's basketball coach, faces the problem of replacing eight graduated members of the 1955-56 Gael squad when practice starts next week.

Among the missing are Mike Wadsworth, Bill Sanchez, Bill Getris and Bill Bagley, first stringers on last year's Gael squad which won 16 and lost 10.

However, Weaver expresses uncommon optimism towards the approaching season, because of one great returning regular, and a promising crop of sophomores from last year's Gael quint which lost only two games.

The returning regular is senior Odell Johnson, a first string All Northern California and All CBA selection, who averaged 17 points last season.

Johnson was third in the nation in field goal percentage, and tallied 438 points, the second highest one year total in St. Mary's history.

Aiding the 6-2 slender All-American candidate will be a group of promising sophomores.

At forwards, leading frosh scorer, 6-2 Irv Blue, and 6-5 LeRoy Doss will add board strength the Gaels did not have last year. Center candidates are Mike Carosielli, a rugged 6-6 sophomore, and junior Lou Ferrario, 6-5.

Guard prospects include speedy Andy Sloane, a 5-10 transfer from DePaul where he captained the freshman team, Bob Hold, ex-St. Mary's high flash, 6-4 Dick Sigaty and 6-1 Joe Barry, all sophs.

Grid Crucials on Tap Next Week

Tonight's round of play in the Diablo Valley League will have an important bearing on the pennant race, but next week's contests could be the clinchers.

Top game seven days hence is bound to feature the Las Lomas Knights and the Pittsburg Pirates at the Steel City Stadium.

This one will have a definite bearing on final standings as each is hot in the race for the top money, along with the Dons of Acalanes.

Next week also finds Acalanes hosting Pacifica. The visitors, engaging in their first year of varsity play, have shown flashes of promise but should be no match for the powerful Dons.

The lack of depth and experience could be Pacifica's undoing.

In the other league tilt, the Pleasant Hill Rams meet their arch rivals, the Devils of Mt. Diablo. These rivals, however, will be battling to keep out of the cellar as neither has fared well in league play.

The Rams are long overdue and should be "up" for this one. The Devils could be had as their offense has been sputtering and their defense, as opponents' scores will indicate, is not exactly stone-wallish.

Antioch draws the bye next week and will be "mending fences" in preparation for the Acalanes aggregation which they encounter the following week.

Dental Poster Contest Judges Are Selected

The panel of judges for the fifth annual Dental Health Poster Contest, which closes January 18, was announced today by Dr. John S. Shaw, president of the Contra Costa Dental Society.

The judges include Mrs. Hazel Salmi, director Richmond Art Center; Mrs. Katy Madsen, Diablo Art Association; Mrs. Iona M. Booth, general manager of the Contra Costa County Development Association; Dr. Donald E. Priewe, chairman of the Dental Health Education Committee of the Contra Costa Dental Society; and, Lloyd Frost, health educator, County Health Department.

Judging of the entries will be timed so that announcement of the prize winners can be made during the annual Dental Health Week observance scheduled for February 3-9.

Certificates of achievement will be awarded at all grade levels, with a $25 U.S. Savings Bond to be awarded to the grand prize winner chosen from the kindergarten-sixth grade group and a $50 U.S. Savings Bond for the grand prize winner from the 7th-12th grade group.

Sponsors of the annual event are the Contra Costa Dental Society, the County School Department and the County Health Department of Contra Costa County.

Going Hunting? . . Watch That Gun! . .

Year after year, firearm deaths continue at almost the same rate, Lloyd Foster, health educator for the County Health Department, states.

In 1955 there were 220 deaths due to firearms in the United States, many of them attributed to hunting accidents, Frost reports.

"This is a particularly hazardous time of the year, when deer hunters go charging over hill and dale, blasting away at anything and everything that moves," Frost says.

"HERE ARE a few safety rules that may protect you and others during the current season:

"1. Keep yourself from being a target—research has shown that clothes of yellow-orange are more easily distinguished than the traditionally 'safe' red jackets.

"2. Be sure to use shells that fit the chamber of your gun. Don't use ammunition in old guns.

"3. IF YOU HAVE companions, walk abreast. Point your gun away from other fellows.

"4. Keep your gun on 'safety' until you raise it to shoot. Remember that dropping or jolting can dislodge the safety. Keep the muzzle clean.

"Unload the gun and put it through a fence before you climb over or through.

"6. NEVER SHOOT at anything you can't see clearly.

"7. Take down your gun as soon as you reach the car.

"8. When you reach home put your unloaded gun in a locked cabinet, away from children. About half of the fatal firearm accidents occur in the home."

Don't throw trash from your car. It's now against the law to be a litterbug. Keep roads clean.
